New Efforts Being Made To Get In Touch With Baby Kidnapers

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TRENTON, N. J., April 11—Reports that the men to whom Col. Lindbergh paid the $50,000 ransom were not actually the kidnapers, were denied today by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, who insisted that only the writers of the original ransom note knew of identification marks in that note which were also known to the men who received the money.

"The identification of the person to whom the ransom was paid was satisfactorily established as being the same as the original means of identification received," Schwarzkopf said. "The identification was of such nature that only the real kidnapers could have furnished it."

Identify Man Arrested

NEW YORK, April 11.—The man taken into custody here Friday for questioning by the New Jersey authorities in connection with the Lindbergh is Sylvian Ortlib, 35, Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney announced today.

Ortlib, the commissioner said, had been arrested several times but never convicted.

The authorities, it is understood, are checking rum running gangs in connection with his detention.

Commissioner Mulrooney said he did not know what led the New Jersey authorities to ask the police to

PA NEWC OBSERVES

A New Castle man who was in Cleveland yesterday said that up there one of the hardest rains in years fell.

Motorist, you'd better check your speed! Watch this speeding on the state highways, or suffer the consequence. Pa Newc drove out of the city several miles late last week and passed alert patrolman guarding against speedsters. And, by the way, your car had better have the inspection sticker, they're on the alert for those, too.

Over the week end the out-of-town college students home for late Spring vacations, returned. Trains leaving here Sunday carried bag and baggage for many an eastern and western college student.

Knights Of Columbus Have Ceremonial Here; Over 400 In Attendance

More than four hundred Knights of Columbus from the Fourth Pennsylvania District, New Castle, Sharon, Greenville and Butler and western Pennsylvania, participated in the third degree ceremonial and banquet held Sunday in this city under the auspices of St. Mary's Council No. 512. While the greater number participated in the degree ceremonial at Palais Royale Hall, Neshannock avenue, during the afternoon, a crowd numbering considerably over two hundred participated in the banquet held at six o'clock in St. Mary's church hall.

The affair designed primarily as an effort in honor of the golden anniversary of the organization, was one of the most successful of such efforts ever attempted by Knights of Columbus of this city and the fourth district of Pennsylvania. District Deputy Peter P. Capitola, state secretary B. N. Hanlon and the officers of the councils in the district, with their various assisting committees were congratulated on the excellent event that was staged.

President Would Have Congress Reduce His Annual Stipend

Hoover Also Suggests Pay Cut For High Salaried Federal Workers

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Hoover has volunteered to take a "cut" in his annual $75,000 salary.

Although congress is prohibited by the constitution from reducing the salary of the president or judges during terms for which they are chosen, Mr. Hoover told the special house judiciary committee he would waive any objection on this score.

But the economy committee disagreed with the president's suggestion. Rather, they said, the president could accept the reduction without law.

When President Hoover proposed to cut his own pay he also suggested reducing salaries of other government workers. His first proposal

Economy Program Plans Are Rushed

House May Receive Economy Program From Committe This Week

Special Committee Working Night And Day, Hope To Save $200,000,000

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The joint economy program of President Hoover and the special House Economy Committee, designed to save $200,000,000 a year, may be placed before the house late this week, Rep. John McDuffie (D) of Alabama of the house body announced today.

The committee planned day and night work in an effort to complete the tentative plan and attach it to the legislative supply bill as a "rider." The legislation bill was introduced today.

Seek Speedy Action

This parliamentary maneuver was advanced as a means to halt filibusters and assure speedy action. The legislative bill must be passed because it carries funds for expenses of congress.

Director of the Budget J. C. Roop was to go before the house body today as the special emissary of the President with the hope that the tentative agreement reaches Saturday may be converted into a final plan.

All political bickering, which had threatened to check the economy movement, apparently had been ended. Representatives of the President and the Democratic house both pledged themselves to non-partisan action.

Many important points of difference between Mr. Hoover and the committee remained to be settled, chiefly that of the method and extent of a reduction in the pay of government workers.

President Hoover informed the House Committee he stood ready to reconvene the conference held at the White House on Saturday.

GIVEN $10,000 AS RESULT OF SUIT FOR BALM

"It is little enough for all I have suffered," commented Miss Grace Priehs, 30, of Pittsburgh, as a jury in federal court in Cleveland awarded her $10,000 in her $100,000 suit against Arthur Geiger, 43-year-old bachelor of Alliance, O., charging seduction and breach of promise. Defense testimony at the trial showed that Geiger instead of being wealthy is $22,000 in debt.

Seventh Ward Store Robbed

Loot Valued At $600 Is Taken From Hyde's Drug Store

Discovery was made about 6 o'clock Sunday morning by Officer Hagan that the drugstore of A. C. Hyde, corner of North Liberty street and Wabash avenue, had been robbed.

Central police station was notified and Officer Carl Lockard was detailed on the case. He stopped enroute and got Mr. Hyde, the owner.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window on the Wabash side of the place of business. The robbers evidently made their escape through the back door of the store, which they found unlocked. A bottle was used in breaking the window.

All types of goods handled by a drug store were taken. The value of the missing goods has been placed at $600 by the proprietor, Mr. Hyde.

Among the articles taken was a number of fountain pens and pencils, razors, pocketbooks and card cases, flashlights, cigarets and many other articles. The police are working on a number of excellent clues in connection with the case.

Ready To Begin Actual Payment Of Relief Sums

State Treasurer And Auditor Hold Conference On Talbot Bill

PHILADELPHIA SEEKS MONEY

Disbursement Of $10,000,000 To Needy Of State Will Be Big Aid

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Actual disbursement of the $10,000,000 to the various poor districts of the state loomed today following announcement that the state treasury has sufficient funds on hand to make initial payments of the huge sum authorized under the Talbot bill.

This indication of immediate payments to the unemployed and needy grew out of a conference here during the week end between State Treasurer Edward Martin and Auditor General Charles A. Waters.

Ready To Pay

The treasury, Martin said, is ready at once to pay and audit requistions from the Department of Welfare.

Attorney General Wm. A. Schnader also indicated that he would throw no further legal obstacles in the way of prompt distribution, according to word received here.

The declarations of immediate disbursement of the huge relief fund followed pleas by Philadelphia relief workers after locally raised funds had been depleted. The last of the local funds was spent last week and 60,000 families dependent upon the relief committee for food will go hungry unless the state payments are forthcoming at once. Arrangements have been made to temporarily care for the 4,000 jobless men in the shelter for the homeless pending receipts of the state funds. "We will find some way to continue until the weather is better," George H. Wilkins, director of the shelter said.

Senate Begins Probe Of Stock Exchange Today

President Of Stock Exchange Turns Over Partial Short Selling Report

ALLEGED PLOT IS INVESTIGATED

Senate Inquiry Is Attracting Interest From Entire World

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange today turned over to the Senate banking and currency committee a partial report on short selling transactions on the market in the past ten days.

These records were subpoenaed in the Senate's inquiry into speculation, for the purpose of learning what interests were behind recent bear raids.

Whitney announced, however, that the bulk of the information asked by the committee, could not be furnished before next Friday.

He explained that the bulk of the data requested by the committee would not be available to the exchange until Tuesday. He said that up to 175 men were at work gathering the information and the 25 trained experts would have to work three days to compile it.

Lists Of Corporations

"You said you had with you some list of corporations having short accounts?" asked Branch.

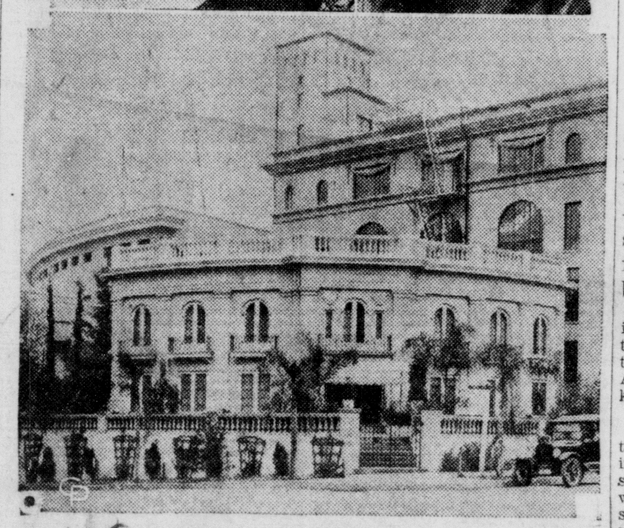

"Yes, as of the opening on April 5," Whitney replied, explaining the list of April 8 (last Friday) had not yet been compiled. He produced statistics in regard to short selling in each stock as compiled by the exchange, for the period from May 25, 1931 to November 30, 1931. He said it had been made public months ago.

"You say this record relates to

Find Wanton Destruction Of Trees In City

Shade Tree Commission Urges More Thought Be Given To Conservation

MANY TREES IN GASTON PARK GONE

Wanton destruction of trees in various parts of the city has been brought to the attention of the Shade Tree Commission, who ask all residents, both children and adults to assist in preventing such acts in the future.

Last fall, 100 walnut trees were planted in Gaston Park through the efforts of Councilman L. G. Genkinger, and today, but few of these trees remain, having been hacked off during the winter, either maliciously or through no knowledge of the damage which was being done.

Other Damage

Small trees and shrubs which had been planted along Laurel boulevard by the city, were found to have been pulled out by the roots, but fortunately had not been damaged to any serious extent when discovered and have been replanted.

There are a great many instances of this sort which have brought to the attention of the commission, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, a member of the commission, stated today.

Every effort to conserve tree life should be made, Mrs. Feuchtwanger urges, and all citizens should cooperate in this matter. Education bulletins are being issued in the schools on "The care and love of trees," which will help inculcate a love for trees among the school children. Tree club are also being formed in the schools.

Not only the children, but adults as well can aid in this great tree conservation movement, to prevent the destruction of the trees of Pennsylvania and the local community, it was stated.

AUTOMOBILE IS REPORTED DAMAGED

J. Roy Lewis of 510 Highland avenue, Aliquippa, Pa., reported Sunday that he was enroute east on East Washington street, when his machine sideswiped a car bearing Pennsylvania license 844VO, which was enroute west. Both machines were damaged.

REVEAL STORY ON NEGOTIATIONS FOR RANSOM PAYMENT

Fordham University Teacher "Jafsie" Was Go-Between In Case

Money Was Paid A Week Ago In What Proves To Be Swindle

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 11.—"Jafsie"—Dr. John F. Condon, Sr., a white-haired, 72-year-old lecturere on education at Fordham University—was projected into the spotlight today as a central figure in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case.

After weeks of mystery as to his identity, "Jafsie" now emerges as the man who played the role of intermediary between Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and the supposed kidnapers.

Lindbergh Swindled

"Jafsie" it was whose well-intentioned efforts brought Lindbergh into personal contact with a representative of the supposed kidnapers with the result that Lindbergh, in a strange "pay-off" deal at a rendezvous not officially revealed, was swindled out of $50,000 which he gave as ransom for the baby's recovery.

Today, at his home in the Bronx, Dr. Condon shied from a discussion with newspapermen of his work on the case. He declared he had been advised that if he talked he would be killed

Over a stretch of weeks back Dr. Condon has been placing a series of advertisements consisting of cryptic notes signed "Jafsie" in New York newspapers. His initials, J. F. C., explain the use of the signature, "Jafsie". These notes brought about the meeting between Lindbergh and the representative of the kidnapers.

Acquainted with Criminals

For many years Dr. Condon has been a devotee of sports. Last year he served as advisory coach for the Sing Sing baseball team and, consequently, became acquainted with a number of criminals. His Sing

Campaign For $2,400,000,000 Cash Payment Opens With Committee Hearings

REP. PATMAN IS AIDING VETERANS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 11. — The campaign for cash payment of the soldiers' "bonus" at an estimated cost of $2,400,000,000 was officially opened today as the house ways and means committee began hearings on 20 bills.

With all the fervor of army days, World War veterans came forward with arguments to convince the committee that the certificates should be paid 13 years before maturity.

Rep. Patman (D) of Texas, a veteran who was kept from overseas service by the doctors, led the forces for cash payment with Rep. Rankin (D) of Mississippi as his chief aide.

(Special To The News)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 11.—Didn't you see a headline in this morning's paper saying that "Russia is going to extract the snow from the clouds before the clouds reach Moscow, thereby relieving the city of having snow."

Now that sounds silly, don't it?

We all say "Those darn Russians, they always got some crazy ideas." Then in the next column it says "Hoover and a congressional committee propose to take two hundred million dollars from government expenditure."

Well, I'll bet you the Russians get the snow out of the clouds before Hoover and congress gets any government employees out of their swivel chairs, but both things sound good in print.

Von Hindenburg Is Re-Elected German Leader

President Paul Von Hindenburg Returned To Office With Fine Plurality

ADOLF HITLER IS DEFEATED

By EDWARD L. DUESS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 11.—Scenes of the intricate German political drama were shifted today as a result of yesterday's election returning Field Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg to the presidency with a lead of nearly six million votes over the total of Adolf Hitler, Fascist leader.

Victory for Bruening

The reassuring election of the 84-year-old soldier-statesman was in effect a hearty endorsement of the internal and international policies of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, giving Bruening an entirely free hand for the first time in months in dealing with the coming disarmament and reparations meetings.

The Hitler movement was far from beaten. The Nazil leader added 2,078,175 votes to his total in the election March 13 for which yesterday's balloting was a run off, and Hitler's followers swung into the campaign for the April 24 Prussian

Group Of Arkansas Students And Two Teachers Beaten In Kentucky Coal Field

ARE FORCED TO LEAVE STATE

(International News Service)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. Apr. 11—Nursing painful welts and bruises, a group of three students and two teachers of Commonwealth College, Arkansas, today related a story of intimidation and physical attack which accompanied their expulsion from the coal fields of Kentucky

Escorted out of Kentucky by a delegation of Harlan and Pineville citizens, the college group arrived here last night in their dilapidated automobile. They had gone to the coal fields to investigate conditions and bring food to striking miners.

Stories Narrated

Gathered in the office of a local newspaper, the students and teachers narrated their story to safety director Walter Anderson, Judge John Randolph Neal, a number of Knoxville citizens and newspapermen.

Lucien Koch youthful president of Commonwealth College who led the expedition, said that Mayor Brooks and Chief of Police Osborne had requested them to leave Pineville. A group of citizens then kidnaped the Commonwealth party and forced the students and teachers to drive to the state boundary line, according to Koch.

Before reaching the state line, Koch said, the college automobile was forced into a side road where it was made to halt. Each student and teacher, in turn, were then taken out of their automobile and severely beaten. Harold Coy, a teacher, was the most seriously injured. Bruises covered his entire back and shoulders, Koch said.

Receives Congratulations

Berlin, April 11.—Re-elected to the presidency of the Reich for another seven years, President Paul Von Hindenburg today received the congratulations of his supporters in his palace on Unter Den Linden.

At the same time, socialist leaders moved swiftly in an attempt to crush Adolph Hitler, national socialist leader and his chief opponent in yesterday's run-off election, by pressing for proscription of his so-called "storm troops."

Chancellor Heinrich Bruening was the first to arrive at the palace today to tender his personal congratulations to the aged president, who if favored by good health will continue to pilot Germany's ship of state until he reaches the age of 91.

Bruening Remains

In keeping with German custom, Bruening immediately tendered his cabinet's resignation to the president. Von Hindenburg declined to accept it, thanked Bruening for his splendid efforts in conducting the presidential campaign, expressed confidence in his policies and asked the chancellor to remain in office.

To this Bruening agreed. It was understood he would give up the post of minister of foreign affairs, turning this portfolio over to some career diplomat, and cencentrate entirely upon the chancellorship.

stocks in which short selling appears," interposed Senator Couzens (R) of Michigan. "Are there any stocks in which there could be short selling which did not appear?"

"No," said Whitney, explaining that any member who failed to report short sales accurately would be subject to expulsion from the exchange.

Probe Starts

Washington, April 11.—Attracting financial spotlights from every corner of the world, the Senate investigation of speculation on the New York Stock Exchange opened today to determine what influences have conducted bear raids on the market with disastrous effect on prices in the last ten days.

President Hoover is supporting the inquiry, on the strength of reports of a plan for a gigantic raid on Saturday's market. The President was reported as anxious to learn if any European power participated in arrangements for the raid, as part of a general plot to drive America off the gold standard. Administration spokesmen frankly declared the raid was plotted to make Saturday the "blackest day" in all trading history.

Whitney Gives Facts

Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, was the first and only witness summoned. He brought with him all records of the exchange and its membership, relating to short-selling as of the close of business on Friday. Among his papers were copies of all communications sent or received by member brokers on Friday, "dealing with any subject other than orders for business."

These communications were regarded with great significance. They may furnish clues as to the identity of interests, which staged a series of spectacular raids on the market for eight straight days, terminating with last Friday's session. Other clues may be furnished by the records, showing which brokers handled the bear raids and the names of the owners of stock used in them.

Deaths of the Day

Mr. Lightner's Funeral.

Funeral services of the late Henry F. Lightner were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the family residence, 435 County Line street, Dr. Samuel L. Maxwell, pastor of the Epworth M. E. Church was in charge and was assisted by Rev. E. A. Crooks, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church.

The services were very largely attended. The pallbearers were William Blews, A. C. Lach, A. E. Hogue, R. M. Nevel, Elias Barber and H. L. McCurdy. Interment was made in Graceland Cemetery.

Rev. David Daye Sleppy.

Rev. David Daye Sleppy, aged 43 years, of Linesville, Pa., passed away at 3:15 Saturday afternoon. Although he had been ill for a number of months with heart trouble, his condition became critical several days ago when he suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

Rev. Sleppy had many friends in New Castle, having lived here for years and was pastor of the Mahoning Methodist church for four years. He was transferred recently to Linesville, where he took up the pastorate of the Methodist church.

He leaves his wife, two sons, William Carroll and David Daye at home, one brother, Charles of Pittsburgh and two sisters.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Linesville Methodist church.

Mr. Patterson's Funeral

Funeral services of the late Thomas H. Patterson of 707 Oak street were held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the family residence with Dr. R. G. Roscamp in charge. The service of the Fraternal Order of Eagles was also held. The funeral was very largely attended. The pallbearers were David Morgan, James McDevitt, William Lewis, C. L. Snyder, Dan Cunningham and Robert Linton. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Jack O'Brien

Word has been received in the city of the death of Jack O'Brien, aged 70, at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, Girard, O., which occurred Sunday evening.

Mr. O'Brien lived in New Castle until about eight years ago. He is survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

FAITH

One of the many reasons that so many people are surprised at our prices when we make our charge for a funeral bill is that our patrons are not paying for free chairs, free ambulance service, or free use of car for shopping purposes, which has been furnished for many months previous to time of funeral, and everyone knows that some one has to pay for these things.

LEGISLATIVE SERVICE

Three elements enter into the worth of a member of the General Assembly to his district. First, his votes for and against bills, second, his rank on committees and third, his ability to bring back material results.

The first element is a matter of record, in my own case. In the session of 1931 I was chairman of the Rules Committee and Associate Floor Leader, which indicates committee recognition. As to material results, recent press announcements are some evidence to that. The Armory, the Willow Grove Bridge, $79,000 for street work in New Castle and nearly $700,000 for new roads in Lawrence County in the present fiscal year, are but a part of these results.

Much of this we got because you were willing to return me to the General Assembly. Experience and seniority are valuable things. Why not make use of them in the next session?

SAD LACK OF DISCIPLINE

WE HAVE made great progress in many ways in this modern age, but even the most enthusiastic modernists admit that we have also lost something. Discipline of the young and the habit of abedience on their part have particularly declined. An instance of this was shown at Columbia University the other day when hundreds of undergraduates gathered on the campus and threatened to "strike" because the dean had expelled the youthful editor of the college paper for reasons which he considered good and proper. Hundreds of the boys signed resolutions advocating a walk-out of the students as a method of expressing their dissatisfaction with the way in which the university has dealt with one of their number. Dean Hawkes went to the trouble of making a statement in which he declared that the question of free speech did not enter into the matter in the slightest degree.

But without going into the merits of this particular case it maye be said that the demonstration was simply a symptom of the growing lack of respect for authority of any kind asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer. The Columbia incident need not be taken too seriously, but it does have importance as showing one of the tendencies of the age. It is sometimes spoken of as "the revolt of youth." It is all of that and more. Back of it is a dislike of restraint of any kind. It is a disinclination for the training which is so necessary if we are to succeed either in military or civil life. What is the result of this kind of revolt? Children have become more sophisticated than their elders. They defy the authority of their parents; they flout the authority of their teachers; and they have no respect for the authority of properly constituted officials.

Here we have at least a partial explanation of the tendency of the young to lawlessness. The police assure us that the majority of the criminals today are between seventeen and twenty-one. What a sad commentary this is upon our supposed civilization! The crying need of the present time is the right kind of discipline in all walks of life—in the home, in the school and in business. Obedience to those who are placed over us is essential if we are not to have moral and civil anarchy. It must be given to all who have lawful authority, and its inculcation can not begin too soon. As a matter of fact, it should start in the cradle. But unfortunately parents spoil their children before they are able to walk or talk, and then in later life they wonder what has come over their offspring.

POLITICS AND ECONOMY

Daily the once serene atmosphere of Washington is disturbed by the charge, "Politics!" Democrats hurl it at Republicans, who, in recrimination, hurl it back into the face of Dame Democracy. All is not quiet on the Potomac.

Government economy is a casus belli. Democratic politicians, crying "Economy!" accuse President Hoover of playing party politics when he asks them to share with him responsibility for reducing government expenditures by bureau merging and dismissals.

Again when the president, citing the success in tax and social relief through co-operative effort, suggested that the Democratic house and the Republican senate join with a committee representing the executive department in effecting further economies, the Democratic leaders hurled at him the dire imputation that he was playing politics by trying to saddle upon the Democratic party responsibility for the failures they charge to the Republican administration and party.

If anybody is playing politics in the present emergency it is the Democratic leader in congress. They profess no other thought or purpose than bringing the country safely through the present crisis, which is insincerity and hypocrisy betrayed by their great concern over the immediate fortunes of their party and themselves. They talk much about national security but more about Democratic success.

On the outside looking longingly in, the Democrats can be heroic in their demands for government economy, but one wonders would they be as heroic if they were on the inside looking anxiously out.

TRAFFIC'S TOLL OF GAME

Few peaceful inventions of man have proved more destructive to life than the automobile. It takes an alarming toll in human lives in the course of a year and destroys feathered creatures and four-footed animals by the thousands in Pennsylvania every twelve months.

The motor vehicle has become one of the deadliest enemies of small game and birds. That the poultry raiser suffers a considerable loss is widely recognized but the public has given little thought to the extent of the destruction among bird and wildlife.

Game conservationalists must take into account this new factor in plotting their campaigns for the restoration of good small-game hunting. While rabbits are not plentiful ,automobiles probably kill as many in a year as gunners shoot in a season. Conservationists and hunters look kindly upon the automobile for the aid it is giving them in the decimation of night-prowling and game-stalking cats. The cats automobiles kill in the course of a year had their lives been spared probably would have taken a greater toll in birds and small game than that taken by motor vehicles.

Most drivers doubtlessly try to avoid running down rabbits and birds, and certainly no motorist will deliberately hit a skunk or a large animal. Yet rabbits and skunks suffer the most. There is nothing to do but wait the coming of that generation of dumb creatures to which caution on highways will be as instinctive as other instincts of danger.

Nowadays as much fuss is made over the expulsion of a student as over the dethroning of a king.

According to those British economy stories, King George must have had his crown cleaned this spring instead of buying a new one.

Speaking of comparative values, it took two days to select a Honolulu murder jury and 40 minutes to debate a Philippine independence bill.

Newspapers report that crowds outside cheered President von Hindenburg as he sat in a dentist's chair. How could anything cheer a man in such a place?

Do You Forget Trumps? And Lose Your Bids? What Are Trumps?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Sometimes, playing a game of bridge, you forget what trumps are.

You've made a bid and you can't possibly lose. All you need to do is play out the cards and the game is yours.

An opponent plays the ace of clubs. You haven't any clubs at all. Hearts are trumps and the tiniest little trump dropped on that club will take the trick.

But your mind wanders. You are inexcusably stupid. You don't trump and you're set.

Two tricks later you lose a trump trick and that's the end of it.

You're ashamed, you wonder how anybody could ever do a thing like that. Have the game right in your hands and throw it away so absent-mindedly. You abuse yourself, you make excuses, you call yourself names.

You call yourself a fairly good player—and yet you forget that hearts are trumps.

* * *

Forget it. Anybody can make mistakes. After all, even bridge is not the most important thing in the world. More important matters sometimes distract a fellow's attention. The next time you play you will probably do something that's almost brilliant, and that will wipe your humiliation clean away.

* * *

Everybody forgets trumps at times. In a game that's more imporant than any card game that was ever invented. . . . In, for instance, that complicated and fascinated game of living.

There are times when Courage is trumps, but you forget. A little daring would save the day, but you hesitate, and the victory is lost.

Sometimes Kindness is trumps, but you try to bully your way through, and regret your foolishness all the rest of your life.

Common sense is trumps more often than we think, but we fly away on foolish adventures and lose the game. . . . Hopefulness is trumps, but we fall into despair.

Faith is trumps, and we are cynical.

Sticking it out is trumps, and we give up too soon.

We forget, and we are sorry. We play our cards badly, and are broken by crushing regret. It's a pity, but it's true, and all we can do is shuffle our cards and deal them over and pray that, next time, we'll have sense enough to use our brains.

A GOOD MAN

"You deserve no credit for being good unless you are tempted to be bad."

Here is something for you to think about, if you are prone to consider your character exceptionally fine and your reputation of the best.

Perhaps you have little use for a person who has made a misstep.

You have no sympathy for one who would do what you would not do.

But is that a fair way to measure people?

Your temperament, environment, and education may be totally different from those you scorn for their indiscretions.

You may have a nature that senses strongly the "fitness of things."

Your background perhaps was most favorable to guide in proper course.

You have never had an opportunity, perhaps to do anything wrong.

You have never had a feeling that you wished to take what you knew to be a wrong step.

You have not the spirit of adventure and the restlessness of some.

You have never met a great temptation.

If you had, can you be sure that you would not have fallen?

You do not know the fight that most wrong-doers have had before they succumbed to temptation.

THE FIRST TOOTH

Customs change and nations fall,
Fashions come and fashions go.
Father Time may alter all
Which of pride and pomp we know,
But ten thousand years away,
With their added gains of truth,
Still will mothers hail the day
When the baby gets a tooth!

Great events may come to pass.
Marvels may be wrought by man.
Powerful microscopic glass
May discover nature's plan.
What important now we deem
May be scorned by wiser youth,
Still a triumph it will seem
When the baby gets a tooth!

Time may alter many things,
Bettering our present good,
But what change the future brings
Will not vary motherhood.
As it's now it still will be
For another million years,
Mother's eyes will dance with glee
When the first white tooth appears.

Tommy French, farmer boy living near Stone Mountain, Va., was in town looking around when a woman with a baby came up to him. 'Hold my baby a few moments, little boy," she said. and put a quarter in his hand. Tommy held the baby a long time. It awoke and began crying so the boy spent a nickel of his quarter and bought a stick of candy. This quited the baby. It cooed at Tommy and a fast friendship started. Tired of waiting for the mother, Tommy trudged home with the baby. That was several months ago. We will have to admit our neighbor knows how to bake. We will have to be more careful in the future in our general remarks, but getting the rolls was sumpin' all right.

Hope For Balanced Budget Seen In House Revenue Bill

Merits Of Measure Involving Substitution Of Various Sources Of Income For Sales Tax Debated By Country

Much of the debate over the revenue measure adopted by the house of representatives involves recognition of a commendable effort to balance the budget, but there are widely varied opinions as to the merits of the methods to be used in raising income. Some approve the house bill, others hold that the rejected sales tax would have been more equitable.

"It can be said," according to the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER (Ind. Dem.), "that thorugh the determination of the sales tax opposing group, the taxes are laid much more equitably than would have been the case if the first proposition had been put through." The CLEVELAND NEWS (Rep.) thinks: "The senate may have a few opinions of its own as to how the balancing shall be effected. But there is every probability that the conservative coalition there will strive in every possible way to preserve harmony and prevent the tax measure from going to pieces in a storm of partisan or sectional debate." The LYNCHBURG NEWS (Dem.) offers the judgment: "The bill as it passed the house is a far better measure than was hoped for after that hysterical outburst which startled the country. The reaction of the markets has not been favorable, but with assurances that the budget will be balanced there will come a change, and throughout the country such objections as continue will not adversely affect the general gratification at the removal of a great source of uneasiness—the fear of a continued great deficit and a nation borrowing to live."

"It looks probable," in the opinion of the SALT LAKE DESERET NEWS (Ind.), "that the sales tax will not be resurrected and that the present form of the bill will be the basis of the 1932 tax law." The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS (Ind. Dem.) asks: "What can the senate do but accept the measure in the present main outlines?" The ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION (Ind.) remarks that "from one source and another, as much revenue seems necessary as the house bill is designed to raise," although that paper believes that "many groups and interests will feel that too much is being asked of them." The ST. LOUIS TIMES (Rep.) concludes: "The same spirit that has affected popular unsteadiness of thinking on most subjects has merely extended to the house. Public curiosity is now aroused as to what will happen when the budget balancing effort reaches the senate."

"With conflicting interests clamoring at the doors of the senate," advises the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR (Ind.), "the task ahead is both perplexing and grave. A great victory was won in the house for the people and their government when the opponents of a balanced budget were overwhelmingly defeated. It does not seem possible or probable that the senate will concur or agree to the necessity of a balanced budget. Anything less would be a disaster. The duty of the senate is to act promptly on this revenue bill. To do less would be to retard the recovery of industry and of employment."

Belief that the completed bill is less desirable than the rejected sales tax is voiced by the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS (Ind.), the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Ind. Rep.) and the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST (Dem.). The HOUSTON CHRONICLE (Dem.) comments: "Item by item, we might find fault with the tax measure now adopted. Certainly it seems as obnoxious, if not more so, as the general sales tax that aroused such seeming indignation and opposition. But the government can not now stand on methods. There is no easy way, no helpful way, of raising the large sums of money that must be raised. Perhaps the sales tax method was best, perhaps the present method is best. In any case, the present method is far better than no method, and the country in general has occasion to applaud the completion of the tax measure."

"The nature of the substitutes which the house has enacted has strengthened greatly the argument for the sales tax," remarks the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS (Ind. Rep.), while the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM (Ind. Dem.), observing that "instead of a little tax over the industrial census we now have a hand-picked taxation," asks: "What is the concealed merit behind the refusal to create a small general tax which might add a few cents to the costs of the lower earning capacities and then increase the postal rates 50 per cent on letters?" The Star-Telegram concludes: "We had a chance to have the situation covered representatively, but we didn't like that idea, so we are having it done in the identical manner of the chicken crossing the road—to get across it, method immaterial."

"Piling up of taxes on incomes earned in business is likely to put a grave damper on enterprise and thus on employment," thinks the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.), with the statement as to the future: "The senate, especially in the study of the bill by its finance committee, will have opportunity to balance not only the budget but the new tax levies. And it will be a misfortune if it fails to go at its task with calm minds and understanding of the fact that the people of this country do not live in separated economic compartments but are interdependent in their lives, their jobs and their welfare."

Opposition to the measure is voiced by the DULUTH HERALD (Ind. Rep.), while the conviction that the senate will make material changes comes from the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL (Ind.) and the HARTFORD TIMES (Ind. Dem.).

The NEW YORK SUN (Ind.) observes: "Whether the senate will dare to risk conflict with the house on the general principles of the present bill is a question." The PASADENA STAR-NEWS (Rep.) points out: "The country cannot foreknow, from day to day, what congress may do on this budget bill; nor is there any assurance as to when final action will come, or whether this action will be effective, when it does come. This is the way of congress. It is not a scientific, sane or sensible business procedure. Quite the contrary."

"The season of uncertainty will have an unsettling effect," in the opinion of the CONNELLSVILLE COURIER (Rep.), and the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.), asserting that "prompt action is needed," advises: "If the even spread of the sales tax is to be ignored and instead of its general levy, specific excises and other burdensome restraints are to be imposed in spots, business enterprises must know with some exactness what it is to carry and at what points the strain is to come before it can be expected to go ahead."

"The automobile industry," says the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS (Ind.), "has a right to object, and in fact all industry and all business may well look askance at the measure, approved piecemeal in the lower house, which threatens to erect barriers in the path of a big business now getting away to a flying start in an uphill race to benefit the nation."

Contending that the bill is "a compendium of nuisances on the one hand, and enormous special burdens on the other," the DETROIT NEWS (Ind.) offers the judgment: "The same committee that a few days ago turned down a sales levy on motor cars, trucks and accessories, convinced that it was harmful, dangerous and an obstacle to a revival of prosperity, threw all its previous arguments out of the window and recommended the tax, which the sheep promptly voted without allowing debate on the merits of the proposal. By so doing they expressed the opinion that motor cars, trucks and their needed accessories were in the same class as face powders, lip sticks, chewing gum, golf balls, necklaces and chocolate creams, which were among the other articles singled out as things for which, if people wanted them, they ought to be taxed."

One Fourth Treasury Outlay Is In Payments To Veterans Of Wars

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, April 11.— With World War veterans seeking to extract two billion dollars from the federal vaults through cash payment of adjusted service certificates, a government yardstick prepared by treasury experts showing expenditures on veterans becomes especially illuminating.

The yardstick is 36 inches long and is divided off so as to show expenditures and receipts of the Federal government. One side reveals expenditures and the other chalks up collections. One inch represents $124,504,261.11.

The expenditure side of the yardstick shows that of the 36 inches of expenditures by Uncle Sam, 8½ inches or nearly one-fourth are in payment to veterans of wars. The measuring agent lists such expenditures as $989,590,000 annually, or 22 per cent of the total outlay of the Federal government.

Comparison of the expenditures on veterans with expenditures of any one other classification is enlightening. The nearest approach to the veterans costs are the six inch expenditures on the army and navy as against the 8½ inch veterans outlay.

Other expenditures, according to the portions of the yardstick they occupy, are listed as: public works, 4½ inches; special aids, 4½ inches; administrative and miscellaneous, 3¾; interest, 4⅞ inches, debt retirement, 3½ inches, and trust funds, 2 inches.

The income side of the yardstick shows even a little more vividly the condition in which the country finds itself today. The 36 inches are divided into portions representing the $4,482,153,000 which it is estimated will be need to meet the expenditures during the present fiscal year, ending June 30, next.

Of this amount, 18 inches are painted a bright red, indicating that of 36 inches of needed receipts, at least one-half will still be missing when next June 30 arrives.

Of the eighteen inches of needed revenue which it is estimated will be collected this year, 9 inches will come from income taxes. Internal revenue will account for 4½ inches; customs duties, 3¼ inches, and miscellaneous, 1¼ inches. Where the remaining 18 inches in red will come from remains a matter of much trouble to Congress just now.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 11.—Reports of mismanagement of Scranton school district finances were bared today when directors authorized a warrant for the arrest of Jacob Smith, an agent for the delinquent tax collector.

Smith, an alderman, was charged by directors with embezzling funds totaling between $50,000 and $75,000

Decision to authorize the warrant was taken at a star-chamber session last night when all nine directors discussed the tangle for more than four hours.

At the same time the board ordered an immediate audit of the school district books by Grant L. Bell, public accountant.

In a Mansion on Fifth Avenue—

—belonging to a man wealthy both in money and in the esteem of his fellow men, there stands a well-worn golden oak easy chair. All the rest of the room in which it stands is rich mahogany. The chair belongs to the master of the house, and it was the first piece of furniture he ever owned. He acquired it as a premium for paying cash in days when he was earning six dollars a week. Far from being ashamed of his early condition, he keeps the old chair in a place of honor, for it is a constant reminder of the principle which brought him his success.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HAVE CEREMONIAL HERE

deputy, James A. Flaherty, past supreme knight and supreme councillor, Philadelphia and John R. P. Magill of Philadelphia, present state deputy. All three called attention to the phenominal record of the Knights of Columbus as a national fraternal organization and urged the members to show the proper interest in the real standing of the organization.

The program of the day got under way when the candidates for the third degree and members attended the eleven o'clock mass at St. Mary's church in a body. There followed a buffet luncheon at the K. of C. home for the candidates and a reception for Supreme Councillor Jas. A. Flaherty of Pittsburgh and other visiting notables.

Exemplifying Third Degree

Exemplification of the third degree, one of the principal features of the day, took place at two o'clock in the Palais Royale Hall when a large class of candidates from the councils of the district received the degree with Past State Deputy John B. McDonough in charge. St. Mary's Council acted as host to the hundreds of visiting knights and Grand Knights Thomas Flanagan of this council, welcomed them during the ceremonial.

Quite a number of the Catholic Clergy and national, state as well as district officers were in attendance. Clergy in attendance at the degree ceremonial included Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, assistant at St. Mary's, Rev. Fr. Joseph Doerr, St. Joseph's, and Rev. Fr. Fabian C. P. of St. Paul's Monastery, Pittsburgh.

Officers Present

Officers present included Supreme Councillor James A. Flaherty, Philadelphia, State Deputy John R. P. Magill, Philadelphia, Past State Deputy John P. McDonough, Pittsburgh, Charles McNallay, Pittsburgh, past district deputy; District Deputies—Jos. A. Hensler, Homestead, third district Peter P. Capitola, fourth district, Leo A. McMullen, Bellevue, 18th district, Edward Lee Blaidell, Crafton, 21st district.

Grand Knights—Thomas Flangan, New Castle, John M. Heley Jr., McKeesport, John F. Sullivan, Coraopolis, J. Ellermeyer, Kittanning, John L. Purvis, Natrona, F. M. Ahearn, Greenville, Edward J. Heuther, Sharon, George A. Green, Sharpsburg, William Klein, Homestead, Frank R. Kappel, Midland, Al V. Merriman, Duquesne.

Past Grand Knights—William J. Groff and Charles J. McNally, Allegheny, Edward M. McClintock and Father Reid, Rochester, Nestor DeBay and William Woodside, New Kensington, Laurence O'Toole, Vincent McShane, Butler, Chartiers J. Duffy, Butler, L. Yuengert, Butler, M. S. Nicholas, San Domingo, Philadelphia, Harry Connolly, Charles Carroll, Philadelphia, J. Vincent Brogan, Sharpsburg.

John J. Gorrell, faithful navigator Fort Pitt General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Louis F. S. Cook, President of the Pittsburgh Chapter, John P. Killeen, editor of the K. of C. Bulletin, Pittsburgh, Charles Doyle, district warden, Pittsburgh, B. N. Hanlon, New Castle, state secretary.

The choir participating in the degree work consisted of Stephen and Jack Griffith, Michael and Fred Dillon, Joseph Guilfoyle, Jas. Martin, Thomas Cunningham, Stephen Doyle and D. D. Valiensi.

The Banquet

The banquet was held at six o'clock in St. Mary's church hall. The hall was nicely decorated in festooned colors in keeping with the golden anniversary of the Knights of Columbus and as a background to the speakers table, was a very attractive decoration carrying the information of the anniversary in exquisite design. The tables were decorated with fine cut flowers.

At the speakers table were the following officers and honor guests:—Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, chaplain St. Mary's Council, Rev. Fr. F. S. Clifford of Murrinsville, Rev. Fr. A. P. Scholz, St. Margaret's New Castle, Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, St. Vitus, New Castle, Rev. Fr. A. Donatelli, St. Vitus, New Castle, Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Doeer, St. Joseph's New Castle, John B. McDonough, past state deputy, P. P. Capitola, district deputy fourth district, John R. P. Magill, State Deputy, John P. Madden, Sharon, Toastmaster, James A. Flaherty, Supreme Councillor, Chas. A. McNally, first district deputy west of the Allegheny Mountains, who instituted Councils in New Castle, Sharon and Youngstown, John Gorrell, Pittsburgh, Pa., Leo A. McMullen, district deputy, 18th district, Edward Lee Blaidell, district deputy 21st district, Congressman Harry Connelly, Philadelphia, and Police Commissioner Murth Nicholas, Philadelphia.

The banquet was opened with all arising and singing the Star Spangled Banner. The invocation was then given by Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson. Selections were played during the dinner by Biondi's odchestra.

Names Toastmaster.

Following the dinner District Deputy Peter P. Capitolo made some introductory remarks during which he introduced John P. Madden, Esq., of Sharon as toastmaster.

The toastmaster assumed his duties and in brief appropriate remarks told of the gathering, after which he introduced those at the speakers table to the audience.

This done, he then introduced John B. McDonough of Pittsburgh, past state deputy, as one of the principal speakers of the evening. He said, among other things: "We should be proud of the Knights of Columbus, which organization stands apart as the outstanding Catholic organization of today. We are in the forefront of those participating in the advancement of our race. We should realize that our faith belongs to an aristocracy in the matter of religion, being that of the oldest Christian religion. The Catholic church has been said to be backward in things scientific, yet the names of those first mentioned in scientific achievement are those of this church and our faith. We should inculcate along with the pride of race, the pride of religion, that will bring us to a full realization of our duties and responsibilities."

Selections were then rendered by a quartet consisting of Jack Griffith, Steve Griffith, Francis Morrisey and Bernard Rogan with Frank Gribben as accompanist.

Supreme Councillor Speaks.

James A. Flaherty, supreme councillor, then held attention of the assembled group for some time, during which he brought to the attention of the members how he had served as supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus for 18 years of the many activities in which the organization had functioned successfully during the World war, along educational lines, in the Boy Scout work and in fact every worthwhile project of national and international calibre. He spoke modestly of the 17 high honors conferred on him by the Holy Father, the Pope, various foreign governments and kings in recognition of the work done by the Knights of Columbus, especially while he was the supreme head. He said the honors were conferred on him "not because of what he himself had done, but what the Knights of Columbus had done and that they belonged to each and every one of the members as much as himself and had been conferred on him because it was easier to do so on an individual than on the 600,000 members of the order."

He congratulated District Deputy Capitolo on the success of the day and referred to a letter from Martin H. Carmody, present supreme knight, sent him when he had kept his engagement here rather than go to Detroit to meet with high officials of the order. He said: "We should realize that the organization is doing things and should take a pride in doing our duty and that our order is nothing, if it is not Catholic. We should realize that one of our duties as Knights of Columbus is to receive the holy sacrament. This cannot be done too frequently."

District Deputy P. P. Capitolo then read a letter from Leo G. Griffith, past state deputy and former member of St. Mary's council, expressing his regret at being unable to be present.

Grand Knights Thomas Flanagan of New Castle, F. M. Ahearn of Greenville and Edward J. Heuther of Sharon and Past Grand Knight Vincent McShane were then introduced as leaders of the district councils, who had aided in the success of the affair.

John R. P. Magill of Philadelphia, state deputy, then spoke on the business side of the order. He said among other things that the state deputy was just as good as his district deputies and the officers of the various councils. He asked every member to realize their responsibility.

State Secretary B. N. Hanlon was introduced, but gave way to others to follow. District Deputies Edward Lee Blaidell and Leo A. McMullen then made short and important remarks.

Past District Deputy Charles A. McNally, who instituted St. Mary's council, then made some very interesting remarks. The meeting was then closed with the Star Spangled Banner and benediction by Father Watterson.

Those who served the delightful banquet were: Mrs. P. P. Capitolo, chairlady; Mrs. D. F. Donegan, Mrs. Frank Zimmerly, Mrs. Thomas Valley, Mrs. George Lowers, Mrs. Harry Micaletti and Charles Hogue, with the following aides in the dining room: Miss Tess Travers, Miss Cecelia Daugherty, Miss Ethel Donegan, Miss Helen Maher, Miss Mary Veronica Hanlon, Miss Helen Hannon, Miss Catherine Hannon, Miss Mary Casey, Miss Margaret McGowan, Miss Betty Connelly and Miss Roes McGaghagan.

The golden anniversary committee consisted of Thomas Flanagan, chairman; James C. Brice, Thomas J. Cunningham, Stephen A. Doyle, Roy Eagan, Clyde Flanagan, Willis Flynn, Gerald Guinaugh, Bradley McGonigle, Joseph Ritty, Lawrence Vatter and W. H. Cummings.

Officers of St. Mary's council are: Rev. Leo S. Watterson, chaiplain; grand knight, Thomas Flanagan; deputy grand knight, Hugh M. Rocks; chancellor, William J. Carlin; recording secretary, J. R. Guilfoyle; financial secretary, J. F. O'Leary; treasurer, John C. Carlin; advocate, Luke F. Eagan; warden, Hugh Daugherty; assistant warden, James Steiner; inside guard, Carmen Fulkerson; outside guard, Bradley McGonigle; trustees, Stephen N. Griffith, Daniel E. Sullivan, Thomas Donegan; organist, S. N. Griffith; chorister, Thomas Cunningham.

LOVE GUIDES MOTHER SAFELY

German Mother Tells Of Her Experiences In Raising Large Family

Mrs. Angeline Shumaker of Uniontown, Penna., has been wonderfully successful in raising a fine family of nine children. In the following letter she explains her secret of keeping the little ones always in good health. "Ever since we came to America from Germany," she says, "we have always lived right here in Uniontown. Our first baby was born here, and eight others came right along just about as fast as Nature could allow. I love children and I think it is good for a woman to have a big family. But she can't do it unless she keeps in good health herself, and knows how to keep her growing family well and strong, besides. I learned the secret when our first baby was about three months old.

"I was not well at that time. My system was polluted with impurities of stomach troubles and catarrh. So my milke was impure, too. Naturally, the baby had a bad color most of the time. His stools were the wrong color, and he cried 'till I thought my heart would break. Love must have guided me, as I believe it will guide any mother who really loves her baby. Because, just by accident, I heard from a good Swedish neighbor about World's Tonic. I learned from her that this wonderful new medicine is made from plants gathered in different parts of the world, each in its own right season. Therefore, World's Tonic can help people of different nationalities, and Americans, too, in a way the seems impossible with ordinary American preparations. Evidently World's Tonic puts back into our systems some elements which don't seem to grow on the new soil of America. Our bodies need these elements for health and if we do not have them we too often fall sick.

"I got a bottle of World's Tonic from the drug store on the corner and I saw a wonderful change, almost with the first dose. It cleansed and refreshed my system and it seemed to purify my milk. For, right away the baby picked up, too. The colic quit, the stools improved in color, and he laughed and played all day long, except when he was asleep. With all the babies that have come since, I used World's Tonic in the same way, that is by taking it myself. That way the baby gets the benefit of the cleasing and strengthening tonic through the mother's milk. World's Tonic is fine also to use as the children get older. It is a splendid preventative of the colds they catch so easily, as soon as they start going to school. I always keep a bottle on hand." World's Tonic is on sale at Eckerd's, McKees, Paisley's, Smiths, and other modern drug stores. (B-71)

Policeman's Appetite Took Terrible Slump

"Six months ago," says a Beaver Falls, Pa., policeman, "my appetite took a terrible slump. I sure was worried, as a policeman must eat to keep his strength and pep. At the advice of a friend I started taking Hypo-Col, and in a few days I was eating everything in sight and hollering for more, and feeling as strong and fit as ever."

If you, too, are in danger of losing health and strength through not eating enough, go to any drug store or Eckerd's Cut Rate, 30 East Washington St. for a bottle of pleasant tasting Hypo-Col. Your money back if it doesn't increase your appetite and strength.

Seven Held In Death Of Girl

Whiting, Indiana, Girl Attacked, Then Slain By Strangulation

ROOMING HOUSE MEN QUESTIONED

(International News Service)

WHITING, Ind., April 11.—Seven men were being questioned by police today in connection with the brutal murder of 12-year-old Susan Alberta Knight, who had been criminally attacked and then strangled to death with a length of electric light cord.

The girl's body was found in her room of a lodging house by a roomer who came to awaken her for Sunday school. She was the daughter of the late Rev. Oscar Knight, a baptist clergyman.

Following an autopsy, Deputy Coroner David W. Bopp announced the girl had been attack before being murdered.

Six of the men detained for questioning were roomers in the house. The seventh, George Ross, admitted that he spent the night in the room of friends who lived in the house. He, as well as the other six men, denied all knowledge of the slaying.

Probe Death Of Bridgeville Man

Death Believed Due To Poisoned Beans, Fight To Save Life Of Daughter

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 11.—Ida Mincin, 13, was fighting for life today while Deputy Coroners investigated the death of her fatehr, Alfred Mincin, 42, believed due to eating poisoned beans according to a physician's report to police.

Mincin, president of the Bridgeville Lumber Company, and his daughter became ill after eating a meal at which beans were served. It was believed they had suffered only a slight indisposition but later Mincin's condition grew serious. He died yesterday.

Dr. J. M. Johnston, summoned to attend Mincin and his daughter, reported to police that the lumber dealer's death was caused by "acute gastro entiritis from poisoned beans."

Three unopened cans of beans were taken from the house for analysis.

No steps are to be taken against the 2-year old child who voted in the recent Irish election. It seems to have voted but once, and doubtless was large for its age.—The Hamilton (Ohio) Evening Journal.

Two Killed As Plane Crashes

Prospective Bridegroom And One Other Killed Near Monongahela, Pa.

PLANE PLUNGES RESULT OF WIND

(International News Service)

MONONGAHELA, Pa., April 11.—Death today wrote tragic finis to the wedding plans of David Hamilton, 28, of Elizabeth, who plunged to his death together with a young Gallatin business man when Hamilton's plane nosedived and crashed on a farm near Webster yesterday.

Sam Natalie, 27, of Gallatin, lost his life when the crash occurred. Hamilton was to have been married in May to Miss Rhea Hepner of Elizabeth.

Hamilton sent his light plane into the air despite warnings of high winds. He had purchased the plane two months ago.

The ship had barely started circling for altitude when it was thrown about and sent hurtling earthward by a brisk gust of wind. Both men were dead when taken from the wreckage.

The reason we have only one war to a generation is because statesmen can't fool the same crowd twice.

Bowed by Tragedy

Raymond B. Fosdick, noted New York lawyer and prominent figure in international affairs, whose wife, Winifred Finlay Fosdick, and their two children, Susan, 15, and Raymond, Jr., were found shot to death in their home in Montclair, N. J. It is believed that Mrs. Fosdick, who has been ailing for some time, became demented and shot the children, then ending her own life.

Valuable Poultry Stolen From North Beaver Township

Blooded Stock Is Secured In Raids On Several Farms—Farmers Organize

North Beaver township farmers and poultrymen are installing electric alarms and other devices on their chicken coops in order to put an end to raids by chicken thieves.

These have become so numerous of late that drastic steps are being planned by the farmers to put an end to it. The peculiar nature of the most recent raids leads farmers to believe that the night prowlers are not merely petty thieves seeking something to eat, but are professional poultry racketeers, who take only the best to be transported elsewhere to be used for breeding purposes.

A few of the more recent raids were at the Petrie, Cunningham, C. B. Hamill and Chambers farms, while just across the line in Ohio, 400 chickens were stolen in one night from one place.

One reason which leads farmers of the district to believe that the thieves are after breeding stock is that they selected two of the outstanding poultry breeding farms in the country, the C. B. Hamill and Chambers Fruit and Poultry farm, as objects of their prey. These two farms have been specializing in the highest type birds from some of the world's best-blooded lines.

The birds from the Chambers farm can be identified by the fact that they have been toe-punched in the webb of the left foot, and poultry raisers are asked to be on the lookout for them.

Rheumatic Goes Wild With Joy

Nurito Prescription Acts Like Magic, Making Bed-ridden Sufferers Get Up and Dance

Nothing has so startled the community as the effect of Nurito, a physician's prescription for rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It is now to be had at the local drug stores and is certainly a boon to humanity. Many won't believe such a thing possible as almost instant relief in even bed-ridden cases of excruciating pain. They say it must be a narcotic. But it isn't anything of the sort, and to prove it, get the regular package from the drug store. Try it as directed and if it doesn't prove almost a miracle in driving away pain with two or three doses your money will be instantly refunded. Ask at the drug store for a box of Nurito on this money-back guarantee.

How Foods Aid Health Of Teeth

Dr. Clendening Shows Effect Of Diet On The Blood

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"Children coming to America from southern Europe were observed several years ago by Cross to have fine teeth, although most of them "did not know what a toothbrush looked like until they entered American schools."

The finest natural teeth in the world belong to Eskimos, negroes, American Indians, and southern Europeans. This in their native habits. After living in America or under conditions of civilization anywhere for a time, a change is found. J. A. Murphy found in a study of school children in Washington from 1916 to 1923 that there was a somewhat greater incidence of dental decay among the colored children than among the white.

Why? Dental and medical science began to ask that question some years ago. The Indians said that they had observed the bad teeth in white men and concluded "they were destroyed by the number of lies passing over them." However, science did not stop at that.

We considered yesterday the local effect of food remnants on the teeth in the mouth, the production of acid in the mouth from their presence and its action in tooth decay. It was evident from the fact that perfect teeth were found in people who had never used toothbrushes that his was not the only factor. We must still believe it is an important one, at least 50 per cent, and are not yet prepared to cast the toothbrush aside.

But the quality of the blood is equally important in preventing tooth decay. The chemical substances in the blood, which tend to form strong healthy teeth, of course, enter the blood from the food we eat!

The researchers of Mellanby in England and McCollum and Kruse in Baltimore have given us very definite ideas as to what the elements in the food which preserve teeth are.

"The quality of the saliva is the important thing in determining whether teeth will decay and this is determined by the chemical composition of the blood." Dr. McCollum was quoted as saying last December. The saliva acts as a buffer solution so that acid cannot accumulate and break down the enamel of the teeth.

To keep the buffer quality of the saliva high, phosphorus is needed. We get phosphorus in the diet from milk, eggs, lean beef, beans and peas.

Calcium and Vitamin D are also needed. The fact that Vitamin D is formed in the body when it is exposed to sunlight probably accounts for the good teeth of the southern European and other races must exposed to sunlight and living an outdoor existence. The Eskimo gets Vitamin D from eating fish, especially fish liver (cod liver, for instance) which is rich in Vitamin D.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Mrs. M. N.: "What is unnatural dryness of the skid due to? My little boy's hands are so dry that he spits on them in order to keep comfortable."

Answer: A rare and unusual cause of excessive dryness of the skin is due to congenial absence of the layer of the skin in which the sweat glands are located. People with this condition do not endure hot weather well and they feel instinctively that they should moisten their skin. It is impossible for them to play games or take violent exercise as they become so heated that they have to stop. In some cases during the summer time these patients have to have water thrown over them in order to keep them at all comfortable.

Lawrence county has always been known for the many lawyers of ability that have been developed here. There are numerous members of the Lawrence county bar that have added luster to it, but none more than the late Samuel W. Dana, who followed his chosen profession for approximately sixty years, and who when he passed on, left a record of ability, honorable business transactions that will never be excelled. Attorney Dana was born in Massachusetts. He graduated from Harvard University in the class of 1847. He read law with the Hon. Samuel P. Johnston of Warren, Pa., and was admitted to the bar September 5, 1853. He immediately afterwards formed a partnership with Major James W. Johnston. The firm of Johnston & Dana continued until 1862, when the senior member of the firm was appointed a paymaster in the United States Army. Mr. Dana then continued alone until he became associated with the late Scott D. Long, under the name of Dana & Long, a firm which enjoyed an enviable prestage throughout this part of Pennsylvania. This partnership was dissolved in 1907 and Mr. Dana formed a partnership with his son, Richard Falls, Dana, which continued until his death a number of years ago at a very advanced age. Mr. Dana was remarkable in that he was able up until shortly before his death, to follow his loved profession. He was widely known and loved by the people of this community and was the nestor of the local bar association for many years.

A Happy Washday Adventure — by C.A.Voight

"Does wonderful lot of cleaning," says Mrs. Charlotte Hanwell of Philadelphia

"I USED Rinso for a long time so I knew how easy it was to get clothes white and bright. But I never realized until last week what a lot of work one large box of Rinso will do. I started with my week's wash consisting of:

2 bureau scarfs	5 table cloths	9 shirts
6 doilies	19 towels	6 aprons
10 face cloths	12 dish towels	6 dresses
12 pillow cases	38 handkerchiefs	10 men's underwear
6 sheets	4 men's pajamas	24 pairs socks

"And that's not all! I washed the woodwork and floors 3 times, cleaned the tubs and basins a couple of times, and washed my dishes 25 times all with the one package. I think that's a record."

A little Rinso gives thick suds, even in hardest water. Try it. See how much work one box will do for you.

Expect Exceptionally Good Crop Unless Further Damage Is Sustained

Little damage has been done to county crops as yet, County Farm Agent Harold C. McCulloch stated today, although there is no question but that some peach, cherry, and other early fruits were slightly affected by the freezing weather during March.

Indications point to a heavier bloom than usual, following such an exceptionally heavy crop as was experienced last year, Mr. McCulloch stated, and unless heavy freezes follow after the buds become more advanced, a good fruit crop should result.

Wheat was browned somewhat by the freeze, but will be undamaged, and a fair crop is expected.

NO TRACE YET OF MISSING MAN

Elmer Townsend, 70, New Castle, Disappears In Connecticut

Police search and radio broadcasts throughout New England, New York and Pennsylvania have failed to reveal any clue as to the whereabouts of Elmer Townsend, 70, a New Castle man.

Townsend disappeared from the home of R. D. Patterson, 22 Prince Place, Stamford, Conn., Saturday morning, April 2. He had been visiting at his Connecticut relatives' home since last September when, unable to get work, he had left New Castle.

Word of the disappearance was first received here a week ago when relatives tuned in on the radio and heard his name broadcast as missing. His wife was with her sister, Mrs. Oscar Solars, 112 North Mercer street, at the time of the disappearance.

He is described as wearing a blue suit, coat and trousers of different materials, blue sweater, blue shirt, cap and black shoes. He is five feet six inches in height and weighs 145 pounds. He has gray hair and mustache, gray eyes and the first joint of the middle finger of his right hand is off.

Chambers Upheld By Supreme Court

Opinion Handed Down At Philadelphia Today In Case Of Elliott Against McGoun

In a decision by the supreme court at Philadelphia today, Judge James A. Chambers is affirmed in the case of Mrs. Maggie Elliott against Herb D. McGoun, and the record is remanded with a procendendo. The decision means that the case will go to trial before a jury.

The suit grew out of a life insurance policy held by the late Noah Elliott, husband of the plaintiff. The police was for $12,500. Mr. Elliott, who was operating the Elliott cold rolled steel plant, made an assignment of this policy to Herb D. McGoun. From the time that the assignment was made McGoun kept up the payments on the policy.

Mr. McGoun was interested financially in the plant which Mr. Elliott operated, and at the time the assignment was made it was necessary for Mr. Elliott to conserve funds. After his death Mrs. Elliott brought suit for the proceeds of the policy, less the amounts which McGoun had paid out in premiums.

Arguments were heard before Judge Chambers on several quesetions in controversy, but the principal one was whether or not McGoun had an insurable interest in Elliott. Judge Chambers held that he had, and his opinion has now been affirmed by the supreme court.

The case will go before a jury on its merits as to the distribution of the proceeds of the policy.

ONLY THREE JURORS ASK TO BE EXCUSED

Jury duty seemed to look good to the panel of jurors summoned for common pleas court this week. Only three asked to be excused, in striking contrast to the days of 1929 when it was the usual thing for anywhere from a dozen to eighteen, to ask to be excused. Those excused this morning were James T. Bailey of the second ward, L. E. Burleson also of the second ward, and Laura Fullerton of North Beaver township.

POLICE DECLARE RANSOM PAID TO REAL KIDNAPERS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NORFOLK, Va., Apr. 11—Teetering between consummation and breakdown the fate of negotiations seeking return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby through three Norfolk men rested today in a weird rendezvous of law and outlawry.

John Hughes Curtis, shipbuilder and chief of the negotiators, planned to meet a representative of the purported kidnapers to "talk turkey."

The meeting promised all the symptoms of a crisis.

If it fails, three weeks of dickering by Curtis and his two associates will be so much wasted time, failure would be immediately apparent. If the meeting succeeds negotiations aimed at return of the stolen infant will be one step nearer conclusion. Success might or might not be immediately revealed. No matter what the outcome, Curtis admittedly faced a tough proposition.

Emergency Move

Todays move was of an emergency character. It had its inception in announcement Saturday night that Col. Lindbergh had paid a ransom of $50,000, had not received his baby, and consequently reported to federal authorities the serial numbers of the bills he turned over as ransom.

The three negotiators here indicated plainly they knew nothing of the deal, and said openly the development added to their own difficulties.

Curtis got Lindbergh by telephone and then announced he would leave for a conference with him Sunday morning. Later, he arranged for a meeting with one or more agents of the purported kidnapers.

He left here in a navy airplane about 8:30 a. m. Sunday, facing a rough weather trip north.

Curtis' Job Difficult

Curtis' hardest job today, it was indicated here to International News Service, lay in convincing the men he is dealing with they can trust him. The Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, rector of Christ's Episcopal church and one of Curtis' two associates, feared publication of the identifying serial numbers of the bills Lindbergh turned over in the futile attempt to get his son back would "scare off' the men he. Curtis, and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, third of the negotiators, are dealing with. He said he was still optimistic, but did not seek to hide dismay at the new developement in the case.

"The men we are dealing with can trust us not because we don't want them punished, but because we want to get the baby" he said.

The Rev. Dobson-Peacock does not expect Curtis back today. He predicted his return would mark a definite turn of some kind in the negotiations. There may be some "real news' then, he added.

TRENTON, N. J., April 11.— The first direct suspect in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping mystery was questioned today by New Jersey police at Hopewell, N. J.

Great secrecy surrounded police action in taking this man into custody, and his identity was withheld "because the life of the baby depends on it."

Questioning of the suspect was the first development to become public after Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh revealed Saturday night that he was led into paying $50,000 in ransom to men he believed to be the kidnapers of his son, but who failed to restore the child as agreed.

In a new statement today, Lindbergh told of his conviction the men he dealt with were really the abductors of his 21-months old son because they identified themselves through the use of a secret code contained in the original ransom note.

Note Exists

Existence of the note, reported to have been found in the nursery of the Lindbergh estate atop Sourland Mountain after the child was stolen March 1, thereby was confirmed officially for the first time.

Apprehended in New York at the home of his mother, the suspect was held under police guard at Hopewell or nearby today while he was repeatedly questioned by official and his story of his movements were checked up.

In the bulleetin announcing this angle of the case, Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, supkerintendent of New Jersey State police, spoke of the man as a "noted character" whom an informant connected definitely with the crime.

The man was apprehended by Captain Oliver, of the New York confidential squad of the police department. He said the man was turned over to Inspector Harry Walsh, Jersey City, on Friday night.

Confusion Caused

More confusion was caused by Oliver's statement which said the mystery suspect was not a gangster, had no police record and has "a respectable reputation." The conflict between this assertion and Schwarzkopf's bulletin was not cleared up by officials.

The Schwarzkopf bulletin said:

"An informant definitely connected with the crime and this is one of the lines of investigation referred to in earlier bulletins as a matter which he could not disclose at that time.

"This investigation caused a very considerable amount of work involving investigation in Wertsville, Somerville, Long Branch, Atlantic Highlands, Philadelphia, Plattsburgh, Staten Island, New York City, Montreal, Long Island, Newark, Jersey City and a number of farms in rural New Jersey."

The suspect provided an alibi, Schwartzkopf said, which was being checked.

"Investigators returning today," he divulged in another bulletin late last night, "have reported a verification of further facts given to us in the story of the unnamed suspect referred to in earlier bulletins.

Secrecy Demanded.

"It is expected that this check-up will be continued tomorrow and upon its completion further details will be given."

"No further statement will be made by me on this matter," Oliver declared. "I have been told the Lindbergh baby's life may depend on secrecy being maintained concerning the man in question."

Observers noting the list of cities referred to by Schwarzkopf is involved in investigation of the suspect saw a coincidence in the fact they were approximately the same in which the Detroit Purple gang members were traced when they were mentioned in the case.

Unusual activity revived at the Lindbergh home last night indicated a conference of some sort went on in the Lindbergh home. Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, was among those who attended it.

Rumors gained circulation the conference, which lasted until far into the morning hours, was called because Lindbergh received another communication from the kidnapers, who identified themselves through the cryptic symbol, never published, contained in the ransom note.

Exchange For Gold.

They offered, it was reported, to exchange the $50,000 in $5, $10 and $20 paid them by Lindbergh and the serial numbers of which were made public when the child was not delivered to its parents, for the same amount in gold coin or gold dust, after which they would deliver the infant.

Lindbergh made public his belief that he was dealing with the genuine kidnapers when he paid the $50,000 ransom in a statement given out through Schwarzkopf.

The identification of the men who communicated with him was made through "a means offered in the ransom note of positive identification," the statement said.

In both subsequent notes and when the ransom was paid, the "means" were used by the men Lindbergh believed to be of the kidnap gang, he said.

Coast guard boats patrolled Vineyard Sound, Mass., today. Secret service men were reported aboard, engaged in seeking to capture a boat in which the men who swindled Lindbergh of the ransom were believed to be in hiding.

It was credibly believed the contact leading up to the payment of the money was made through the man who inserted the mysterious notes signed "Jafsie" appearing for some time in the personal columns of newspapers and general regarded as bearing on the Lindbergh matter.

The man who inserted the advertisements was reported as a retired public school principal. He refused to affirm or deny he established contact between the men he believed the abductors and Lindbergh.

About the time Lindbergh paid the ransom money, one "Jafsie" note read: "I accept. Money is ready."

A few days later, another one read: "What is wrong? Have you crosesd me? Please better directions."

The retired school principapl said he feared if he talked about the case he would be killed, but admitted he went to consult Lindbergh after he was convinced his advertisements produced results.

Woman Meets Death Under Auto Wheels

Woman Jumps From Auto Into Path Of Another Car And Is Killed Instantly

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., April 11.—Clare Sargent, 28, who came here six years ago from Derrick City, near Bradford, met instant death today when she leaped from one automobile into the path of another. One leg was severed as the car passed over her body.

Two men, Stanley Kaminsky, 26, and Michael Pollick, both of Eynon, near here, who carried the woman's body into a hospital, were held by State police for questioning.

Authorities learned that the Sargent woman, who was known in police circles, had been riding with Kaminsky and had leaped to her death from his car in front of Pollick's.

Another Carload Of Flour On Way

Shipment Which Will Be Unloaded Tomorrow Will Mark Receipt Of 1,500 Barrels

Announcement of the shipmen of another carload of flour from the Fairchild Milling Company of Cleveland, was received this morning by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross.

It will be received and unloaded tomorrow and will be the fifth carload sent here, making a total shipment of 1,500 barrels to date.

Two thousand more barrels are due for shipment during the course of the next few weeks, and will probably continue coming at the rate of a carload a day until the final shipment is made.

SHOPLIFTERS ARE BUSY ON SATURDAY

Inflation Plan Is Advanced In Behalf Of Bonus

Rep. Patman, Suggests Inflation As Means Of Paying Soldiers' Bonus

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Apr. 11—Inflation of the currency to pay the $2,400,000,000 soldiers bonus certificates was proposed to the House Ways and Means Committee today by Rep. Patman (D) of Texas as hearings opened on a score of bonus bills.

He asserted most of the supporters for cash payments had agreed to the inflation plan but some oppose it and favor a federal bond issue to pay the certificates.

Full payment of the certificates was advocated by Patman chiefly on the ground that it would restore prosperity. The veterans, he said, are not entitled to ask for the bonus payment simply because they are in need.

Cost Of Congress Is Little Changed

Legislature Supply Bill Makes Appropriation About Same As 1931

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The cost of running congress will be substantially the same next year as this year under the terms of the legislative supply bill reported to the house by its appropriations committee today.

An aggregate of $209,306 was cut from last year's total of $11,633,754 voted for the senate and house.

The bill carried no recommendation for a pay cut for members of senate and house. The committee made no change in the expectation that their salaries would be reduced in the general economy program.

As a whole the legislative bill, embracing also expenditures for upkeep of the capitol and library of congress, was cut more than 25 per cent—the biggest reduction yet made in a supply bill.

The committee recommended $20,223,869 for all purposes next year, a reduction of $7,903,517. The reduction is due chiefly to the fact that extensive building work on Capitol Hill was provided for last year.

Rotary Sees Artist Pen Comic Sketches

Grant Waddell, Club Member Speaks Today On "Art In Business"

A talented cartoonist's comic crayon sketches rocked the Rotary club with laughter today and Grant Waddell, Rotarian and art specialist, was the cause of it all. Waddell talked on "Art In Business" and his crayon demonstrations featured the weekly luncheon-meeting in The Castleton.

During the course of his talk he displayed samples of high school art work from various schools throughout the country, drawn together by last week's National High School Art contest at Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh.

Waddell, with several other leading art supervisors was a member of the board of judges. He was able to secure some of the superior posters entered in the competition.

All this week Waddell expects to have them on public display at the local school district's Administration building, East street. Anyone may view them.

Rotary's "On-to-McKeesport" boosters were busy today making further plans for the local delegation's trip to that city on April 27 and 28 for the annual conference of District 33 clubs.

Guests today were Frank Bryerly, Beaver Falls; Harold C. Hunter, Washington, D. C., and A. S. Batchelor, Monaca.

REVEAL STORY ON NEGOTIATIONS FOR RANSOM PAYMENT

Sing connections lent plausibility to the belief that the kidnapers might select him as the intermediary with whom they could safely negotiate with Colonel Lindbergh.

Dr. Condon had offered $1,000 in an interview in a Bronx paper on March 8 for the return of the baby, and he also offered at that time to act as intermediary.

Several days later he received a letter which said:

"Dear Condon: We don't want your $1,000. We can trust you."

In the same envelope a letter was enclosed addressed to Colonel Lindbergh. Condon telephoned Lindbergh and the latter asked him to open the letter and read it. The colonel was interested and told Dr. Condon he would send his car for him.

A conference was held at Hopewell, N. J., the Lindbergh home, and Condon agreed to act as intermediary if he could re-establish contact with the supposed kidnapers.

Inserts Advertisements

Condon then began inserting his series of advertisements in the papers.

Finally Dr. Condon received a telephone call from a man who made an appointment to meet him that night in the Wodlawn cemetery.

"Naw, I don't want your grand ($1,000), Jafsie," the man is understood to have said to Condon. "What's one grand, compared to fifty? You meet me, that's all. Be sure there's goin' to be no monkey business. You bring a gun and I'll bring a gun. See?"

Dr. Condon kept the appointment. He was accompanied, it is said, by a former prize fighter. Condon carried a large, old-fashioned pistol. The pugilist was armed, too.

They found the man, standing inside the cemetery, behind one of the iron gates which was locked. The man carried a pistol in his hand.

Declared He Had Baby

The man said he had the Lindbergh baby; that the baby was safe; that he could furnish proof that the child was in his possession. Condon demanded sight of the proof.

At this juncture a cemetery watchman happened on the scene and the man left hurriedly. He started to run. Dr. Condon pursued, shouting to the fellow not to be alarmed, that it would be all right. But the man continued running. He had almost lost sight of him when the man suddenly stepped from behind a bush, leveled his gun at the educator and told him to keep quiet.

The strange conversation was then resumed. It is understood that the man, after some further discussion, produced as his proofs a piece of what purported to be the child's clothing and a lock of blonde hair.

Went to Hopewell

Condon returned home with the supposed proofs in his possession. Next day he telephoned Lindbergh. The colonel told him to come to Hopewell immediately and he did so in a hired car.

Lindbergh, his wife, Mrs. Anne Lindbergh, Mrs. Dwight Morrow and Colonel Henry L. Breckenridge, Lindbergh's personal attorney, formed the family council that received Condon and heard his story.

Colonel Lindbergh is understood to have balked at first at handing over the ransom money unless the child was right there, ready to be delivered to them. Breckenridge is said to have felt the same way. But the two women, distressed for weeks over the tragic disappearance of the baby, urged, according to the current story, that no possible chance of the baby's recovery be delayed.

Accordingly, the meeting to pay the ransom was made. The date for conference was a week ago last night. The $50,000 was delivered at an unrevealed rendezvous by Col. Lindbergh. The money was in $5, $10 and $20 bills. Breckenridge and Condon were present.

The supposed abductors promised to leave the child at a designated spot. The baby was not found at the spot designated, even though Lindbergh made several flights. He flew to a spot off the coast of Massachusetts. Then he waited several days. But no word came from the kidnapers. Apparently he had been duped.

Significance is now attached to the fact that on April 6, last Wednesday, an advertisement appeared which read:

What is wrong? Have you crossed me? Please better directions. Jafsie."

It was on the day that this note appeared that Lindbergh sought the aid of the Treasury department in Washington to trace the bills he turned over to the supposed kidnapers.

Today the identical advertisement was inserted in the classified section of a New York newspapers:

"What is wrong? Have you crossed me? Please better directions. Jafsie."

COLUMBUS BROTHER OF CITY MEN DIES

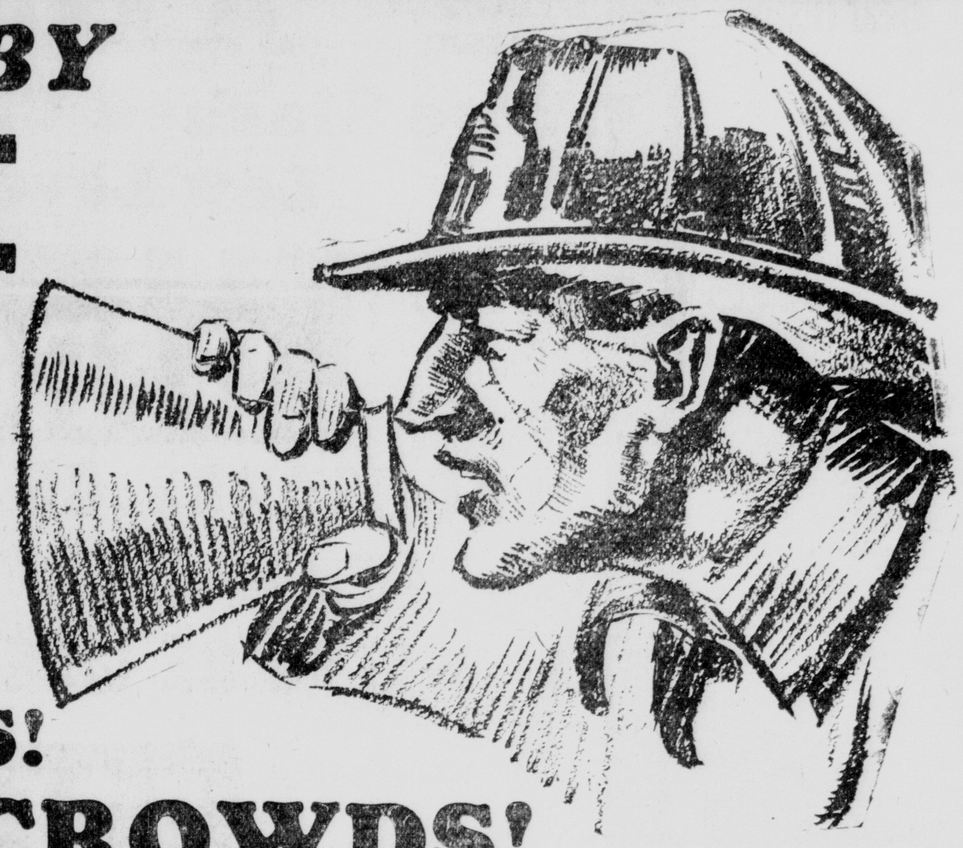

Word of the death yesterday of Rees Jones, 60, Columbus, O., engineer, was received this morning by Morgan Jones, Sr., Wilmington avenue resident.

The Columbus man is survived by another brother living here, E. J. Jones, Pymatuning dam engineer.

It is expected that both brothers will leave Tuesday night for the funeral servicees. Burial will be made at Columbus.

Cherry Trees Bear History

Several Specimens In Japan Famed Throughout Nation For Special Traits

Japan has many cherry trees which possess nation-wide renown, due to beauty, size, history, legend or botanical peculiarities, writes Robert Mountsier to the Baltimore Sun.

The largest cherry tree in Japan is the Yamataka Shindalisakura in the grounds of a temple two and a half miles from Hinoharu station. This "Mountain-High Mythological-day Cherry," to translate its name, rises thirty-five feet above the ground and has a trunk thirty-four feet in circumference. Of the equinox species, this giant cherry tree has blossoms which turn from reddish to white.

Among the extraordinary trees is the Geba-sakura, at the base of Fujiyama, whose branches begin less than a yard from the ground. The trunk measures twenty-six feet around and the leaves are reddish, the flowers white.

Four big trunks with a total circumference of thirty-four grow from the same root of the Ishido Kaba-sakura. The Rosary-hanging Cherry Tree of Daigo Temple, has seven trunks growing from the same root, while the main trunk stands dead and rotting.

The stone-splitting cherry tree has its roots buried in the cracks of a great granite rock in the grounds of the law courts in Morioka. It is one of the famous cherry trees protected by law.

As for Japan's oldest cherry tree, it is difficult to name this or that tree as the most ancient in the empire. There are many old cherry trees on the main island and, so far as appearances are concerned, some of the trees are so gnarled and hoary that they look as if they had come down from times immemorial, as legend would have us believe.

A tree which various authorities have agreed is at least 600 years old is the Waterfall cherry tree of Miharu.

The Everflowing cherry tree of Shirako is reputed to have blossoms all the year around, the blossoms of spring differing from those of autumn in color and size, says Dr. Manabu Miyoshi, noted botanical authority of the University of Tokio.

"It has been noted since the Tokugawa period for the flowers it bears throughout the year and its leaves which never fall in winter," Dr. Miyoshi reports.

Out of the Storm

Leaving a seething cauldron of divergent opinions behind him, Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, of Columbia University, is shown with Mrs. Hawkes as they sailed from New York for Europe. Dean Hawkes' drastic action in expelling Reed Harris, editor of the Spectator, undergrad newspaper, has caused the students of the famous university to split into hostile factions for and against the dean's ruling.

Hawks Grounded Pro Tem.

Showing unmistakable signs of his narrow escape from death, Captain Frank Hawks, world-famous speed flyer, is shown in Worcester, Mass., City Hospital, where he is recovering from the injuries he received when his plane crashed at Grafton, Mass., recently. Hawks sustained a fractured jaw and severe facial lacerations when his plane struck a rocky ledge while taking off on a muddy field. Agnes La Plant is the pretty nurse.

Like Distinguished Forebear

Miss Anne Simmons of Charlotte, N. C., cuts a heroic figure on a horse, but when one considers her distinguished ancestry nothing is more natural than that she should do so. Miss Simmons is a granddaughter of the famous Stonewall Jackson, idolized military leader of the 19th Century. She is shown on her mount "Shady Bill," which was an entry in the recent Pinehurst, N. C., horse show.

Present Complaints Direct To Assessor

Assessor Will Investigate And Report To Appeals Board

Under the plan whereby complaints regarding any assessment subsequent to any triennial assessment henceforth will be presented direct to the assessor, city hall, council will have more time for conducting councilmanic business.

After the assessor receives the complaint he will make an investigation then report to council, as a board of revision, the facts in the case. Upon the board of revision will rest the final decision on the complaint.

Heretofore complaints have been presented during council meetings. The complaints were referred to the assessor. Under the new plan council will not have any knowledge of the complaints until the assessor makes his report.

Education Work For Girls Being Carried On By Y. W. Department

It's education department has been an important part of the New Castle Y. W. C. A. for many years. It has studied educational methods and the education need of girls and women. It provides for such needs as seem most urgent and worthy and which are not being met by other educational agencies.

This year the New Castle Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring a number of classes through its education department. Ninety-six girls are at present enrolled in a class in review shorthand taught by two high school teachers who have given their services for this work in order that girls who have graduated from business courses and have not been able to find jobs during the present depression and girls who have not been able to keep up practice in the kind of work in which they are employed, may become more efficient in their jobs.

Girls are enrolled in a class at the high school under the direction of Mrs. Hiehle who is also donating her services for girls who have left school and are seeking household employment and seeking to make themselves more efficient for their future jobs.

Thirty-two women have been enrolled in sewing classes through the International Institute.

The education department also sponsored a class of religious education under the leadership of Dr. G. S. Bennett with an enrollment of 146.

Much of the Educational work of the Association is done informally through clubs and requests come to the committee for teachers or speakers or resource material for good music, good plays, hygiene talks, psychology lessons, as well as for the interest groups which are planned directly by club members and Girl Reserve advisers.

Modern educational methods of "learning by doing" are carried out throughout all the Association in committee work as well as clubs and classes. Suggestions are given by members of all groups and group decisions are benefited.

The education committee of the Y. W. C. A. is composed of Mrs. W. W. Sniff, chairman, Mrs. James Blackwood, Miss Dell Davidson and Mrs. Elder Bryan.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

The annual congregational meeting of the East Brook United Presbyterian church was held in the church auditorium Thursday evening. After the business meeting the ladies of the church served refreshments.

EAST BROOK NOTES

Mrs. Ida Mae White of Mt. Jackson and sons Junior and David and daughter Betty Lou, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Michael.

Carl Cadman of East Brook road and Clifford Robinson of Ellwood road motored to Bloomsburgh Monday morning to visit Mr. Cadman's parents. They returned home Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Miller visited their son, John Miller, of East New Castle on Tuesday.

Elsie Linton, Blanche Carr and Opal Martin enjoyed a six o'clock dinner at the Everett Kennedy residence Monday. Later they motored to the home of Frank Shaw.

The county tests were given Monday, April 4, to the eighth grade at East Brook. The results were very satisfactory. Jane Kerr was high scorer, making 221 points out of a possible 248. The median for the 21 pupils who took the test was 183.5.

Calculation that the Philadelphia district will spend seven billions on construction in the next 50 years ought to assure our grandchildren lots of work.—The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

JAMBOREE EVENT SET

The Lawrence Council office has set June 7 and 8 as the dates for the annual Camp Phillip's jamboree.

The high patrol in the council meet those nights will be priviledged to attend the Scouting exhibition at Rising Sun, Maryland, late in June. Will Rogers will speak at that event.

DISTRICT'S DOINGS

Troop V-18 has its Washington bi-centennial picture beautifully hung, and is working on another one. Mahoningtown is lining up a community troop, with Eugene Wray doing a fine piece of work with the boys...East Brook is all set for their first full committee meeting on April 16, and the boy meetings start right afterward...The troop will probably meet in the grange hall... Plaingrove reports considerable activity along the tenderfoot line.

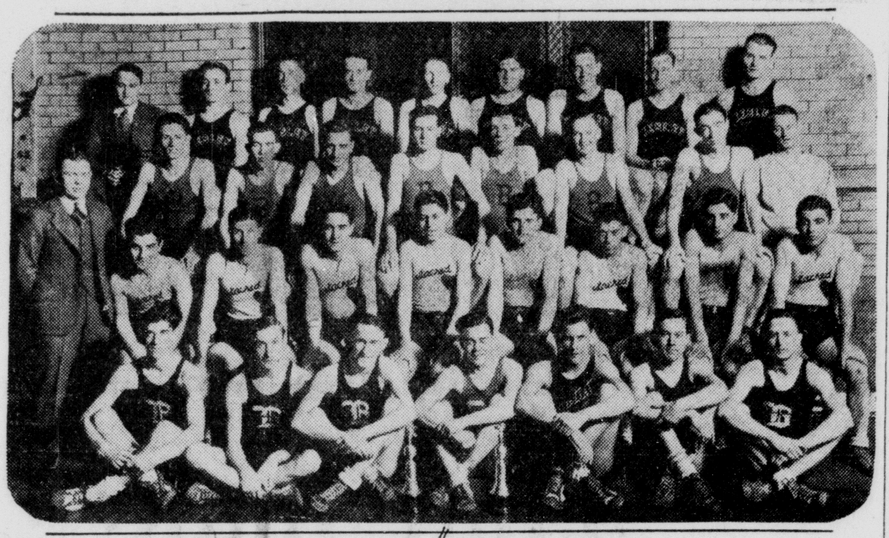

THINGS TO KNOW:

That Troop 6 has a "First Aid Squad" whose names are publicly announced at the Croton M. E. Church, and that these scouts handle any first aid cases during the services.

That Troop V-15 is another which performs the same service at the First Christian church.

That there are 602 scout councils in the nation.

Y. M. C. A. Does Important Church Cooperation Work

The local Y. M. C. A. is one of the leading associations in the state of Pennsylvania doing church co-operation work among the young men of the different congregations. The accompanying picture is the picture of the champions of their respective leagues in each of the halves played. The season just passed has been the most successful of any season since the start of the church league five years ago.

League Growth Told

Church athletic co-operation is one of the many new steps being taken by the physical departments of the Y. M. C. A. associations of the country and also means a step away from the old idea of the few participating in a sport when a large number wish to participate but are unable to do so because of no proper organization plans being pushed. The local Y. M. C. A. church league started with four teams and today has a membership of 16 teams from 13 different congregations in the city and one in Wampum, and includes teams from Catholic, Jewish and Protestant churches.

In these days when so many young men are out of work and need some place in which to expend their stored up energy, the members of the present church league have found the Y. M. C. A. is one of the places where he may do it the right way. A membership fee is charged the players of each team, which is for the duration of the playing season only. This membership, although smaller than the regular membership, is given the rights and privileges of other members of the Y. and which makes it possible for a holder of a church league membership to participate in the other activities of the association.

A church basketball league is one of the newest searches physical educators are organizing in an endeavor to have an activity in which character education can be realized. In order to be properly done it must have the full co-operation of the ministers of the different churches and the church itself. One of the objectives in a church having such a team is to strengthen the loyalty to that church and to satisfy the recreational inclinations of the young men of the church.

The past season in the church league there were 190 players of different churches, who participated in 174 games in the league and who participated in 56 games outside of the league with out of town teams, making a grand total of 230 games for this one group of church league players at the Y. All of the teams in the church league are supported by their congregations and a total of 8,300 spectators viewed the above total of games the past season. With the system that is now in practice at the local Y., three and four games are played on Monday, Friday and Saturday after eight o'clock in the evening. Forty-five minutes is the playing time allowed each game, and in this way the playing capacity of the schedule at the Y. is greatly increased.

The above activity is only a part of the program of activities at the local Y. and in the coming membership drive of the Y. prospective members will be approached to further enhance and enlarge the above activity and also other activities of the Y. It is your Y. M. C. A. to use and it is for your benefit and no one else that you use your Y. M. C. A.

Pinchot Answers Criticism Upon Army Of Workers

State Payroll Has Shown Increase In Past 14 Months, Governor Admits

LARGE FORCES ARE NECESSARY

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 11. — Although the state payroll has shown an increase in the past 14 months, the employment of more workers has become necessary because of the added duties and problems of the administration, Gov. Gifford Pinchot said in a statement today.

In a letter dispatched to all newspaper editors in the state, the Governor answered critics who have recently been striking at additions made to the state payroll under the Pinchot administration. The governor asserted that under his direction the payroll has increased 4.3 per cents, while the number of workers increased 4.8 per cent.

Cites Statistics

He cited statistics to show that while payroll additions in all other departments have remained at a low level, state treasury empoyes have been increased 15 per cent and the payroll 15.7 per cent, and the auditor general's department staff has been increased 11 per cent with a payroll boost of 12.5 per cent.

"The state treasurer and the auditor general are in no way responsible to the governor," the statement read, asserting that the two departments took on no new duties between January 1, 1930 and March 1, 1932, when the increases were noted.

Forces Increased

"Complaints have been made of additions to the force in the governor's office. Additions have been made, ten, in fact, although the appropriation has not been increased.

"But, if ever an increase was justified, that is one.

"At least three times as much mail is received and answered by my office as by the office of Governor Fisher Five times as many speeches are required of me as of Governor Fisher. The number of business callers is many times greater, and they must receive the attention they have a right to expect. Unemployment relief and other new problems make much work. Even with the additional employes the governor's force constantly works overtime.

"There is not one unnecessary employe on my payroll."

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEMROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

If Your Ears Ring With Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises due to catarrh go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's Cut Rate or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises due to catarrh should give this prescription a trial.

News Of The World As Told In Pictures

TITANIC WENT TO ITS DOOM JUST TWENTY YEARS AGO

How Titanic ripped side open on iceberg; note how by far the larger part of iceberg was submerged.

Some of the survivors of the Titanic disaster aboard the Carpathia, a rescue steamer.

William T. Stead — Colonel John Jacob Astor — Capt. E. J. Smith of the Titanic — Major Archibald Butt

THE TITANIC

Just 20 years ago—on April 14-15, 1912, to be exact—the British liner Titanic, bound from Southampton, England, to New York, on its maiden voyage, sank with the loss of 1,517 lives. With a barely perceptible crash, the giant vessel "grazed an iceberg." Unfortunately the knife-like edge of the iceberg ripped open the side of the vessel. That was at 11:40 p. m. on Sunday, April 14, off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland.

Some of the passengers, undisturbed, even returned to bed. But soon everyone was ordered to the lifeboats. There were only 20 lifeboats for 2,223 persons aboard the ship and in addition, there was difficulty in launching the lifeboats. Then an explosion wracked the vessel. At 2:20 a. m., Monday, her colors flying, and Captain E. J. Smith on the bridge, the largest liner in the world (at that time) sank to the bottom of the ocean while her band played "Nearer My God to Thee." The weather was bitterly cold, and many of those afloat in small boats suffered from exposure. Among those who went down with the ship were William T. Stead, noted British editor and writer; Major Archibald Butt, aide to President Taft, and Colonel John Jacob Astor, multi-millionaire, whose young wife was saved. Of 2,223 aboard, only 706 were saved.

Split Camp in Columbia On Expulsion of Editor

* * * * * *

Student Factions Prolong Controversy Over Ousting of Reed Harris. Varsity "Alma Mater" Gagged In Protest.

ALMA MATER GAGGED

DEAN HERBERT E. HAWKES

REED HARRIS

GIRL PICKETS.

Though the recent expulsion of Reed Harris from Columbia University is unlikely to cause any national or international complications, it is of sufficient moment to the students of that worthy seat of learning to cause the formation of two opposing factions in what had hitherto been a big, happy family. The issue at stake is whether or not Dean Herbert E. Hawkes had sufficient justification for his drastic action in expelling Harris for his editorially expressed opinion of university policies. Last Fall Harris was the author of a vitriolic attack on the varsity sports program and kindred subjects. He charged that college football was a "racket" with more than the taint of professionalism. No action was taken by the faculty on that occasion. Recently the fiery editor indulged in a fulmination against the management of the university dining halls—particularly that known as the Jay Jay. This last venture is said to have been the cause of his expulsion. Whatever the cause, it is certain that there is a decided difference of opinion as to the justice thereof. During the one-day strike of pro-Harris students, the heroic figure of "Alma Mater," which stands on the steps of the university library, was gagged as a protest gesture symbolizing the muzzling of free speech. But anti-Harris forces came to the rescue of their stone mammy and a lively fracas ensued during which fists, over-ripe fruit and ancient eggs were used with gay abandon.

As Vets Made Bonus Demand

Here is the scene at Washington, D. C., when 1,200 World War veterans with banners flying marched to the National Capitol to present petitions bearing 2,500,000 signatures demanding payment of their bonus. Lower photo shows the parade of veterans on the march. Upper panel shows Paul C. Wollman, of Baltimore, past commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, as he presented petitions from 48 States to the Ways and Means Committee. The petitions demand immediate full payment of adjusted compensation certificates. Left to right are: Representative Bertram Snell, New York; Senator Smith Brookhart, Iowa; Representative Wright Patman, Texas; Representative Henry T. Rainey, Illinois; Senator Charles McNary, Oregon, and (on the step below) Wollman.

Bootlegging Coal to Fight Starvation

If a policeman had surprised this little group instead of the comparatively harmless cameraman, the members of it would now be in jail. Unemployed and destitute, the miners of Shenandoah, Pa., are compelled to resort to this method of obtaining fuel to give needed warmth to their families. They obtain coal from surface outcroppings of the mines, and though driven to do so by dire need, they must get in their stealthy work while the backs of the mine police are turned.

Inspecting Million-Dollar Dope Haul

Government agents are shown examining some of the 24,000 ounces of narcotics seized by Customs men on the liner Ile de France after she had docked at New York from Europe. The seizure, which is the largest ever made here, is valued at approximately $1,440,000. The dope was found hidden in cases marked "toys" under a thin layer of toy soldiers. It was revealed that Customs men in the United States and Europe have been planning the coup for several months. One man, Joseph Frankel, a toy importer, was taken into custody for questioning in connection with the affair.

Grandi Gifts for Gotham Cops

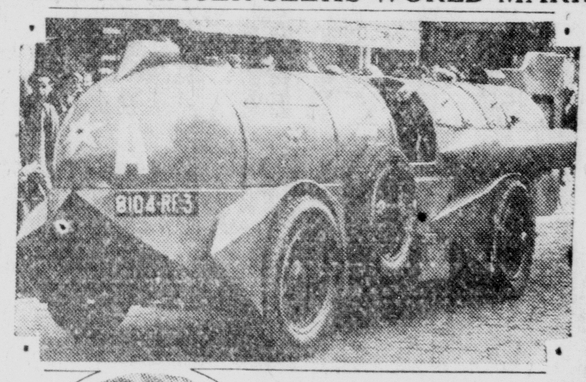

As a mark of appreciation for the courtesy shown him during his visit to the United States some time ago, Signor Dino Grandi, Italy's youthful foreign minister, sent 42 silver cigarette cases to be distributed to the New York policemen who formed his guard of honor while in America. Above, Police Commissioner Mulrooney is shown presenting Lieutenant Henry Lanvin with his present from the Italian statesman.

Victory for Mother

Seven-year-old "Dolly" McDonald, of Philadelphia, heiress to a $3,000,000 estate, is shown in the arms of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Stuart, with whom, the court has ruled, the child shall remain. The court ruling ended a bitter quarrel which has been in progress since the child's grandmother, Mrs. Zaida McDonald, brought suit to remove "Dolly" from her mother's custody.

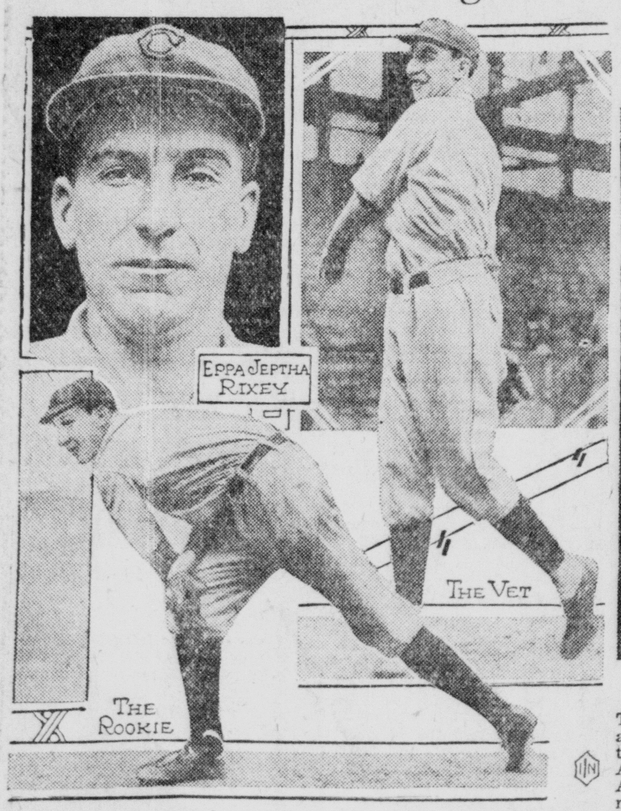

FRENCH RACER SEEKS WORLD MARK

Completed after two years' labor, this giant French racing car will be sent after Sir Malcolm Campbell's world speed record of 253 miles an hour on the sands of Daytona Beach, Fla., where Sir Malcolm set his mark. The car has three 800-horsepower motors. A 60-horsepower motor is used to start the giant engines spinning. Monsieur Stapp, left, the owner, plans to drive the car.

Faces 20th Year in Big Time

Starting on his twentieth year of continuous service in the big league, Eppa Jeptha Rixey, the six-foot, five-inch pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, is one of the most remarkable personalities on the diamond today. Rixey has been hurling to big league batters since he graduated from the University of Virginia in 1912. His big league debut was made with the Phillies and, despite his lack of experience, he won ten games and lost seven that first season. He stayed with the Phillies until 1921, when he was traded to the Reds, where he has stayed ever since

American Product

Though he has never studied abroad, his entire musical education having been received in America under the tutelage of Adamo Georgetti, well-known maestro baritone, Mario Cozzi (above in role of "Iago") is one of the world's foremost baritones. Cozzi is to make his final appearance at New York on April 13, in the role in which he is here shown. The singer will go to Europe to fulfill several operatic engagements.

Feeding Democratic War Chest

Maryland is well to the fore in contributing its share to the war chest of the Democratic Party for the victory campaign of 1932. Above, Governor Albert C. Ritchie (left), shown as he presented a check for $35,000 to John W. Davis, chairman of the Victory Campaign. This amount represents Maryland's quota contribution to the fund.

As in Play

The announcement of the engagement of Sally O'Neill, petite Irish-American film actress, to Arthur Loew, son of the late Marcus Loew, recalls the stage romance in "Abie's Irish Rose." The couple, shown above, will probably marry in New York soon.

Old Eli on Harvard Pan

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

George Washington
No. 49. The Recovery Of Boston

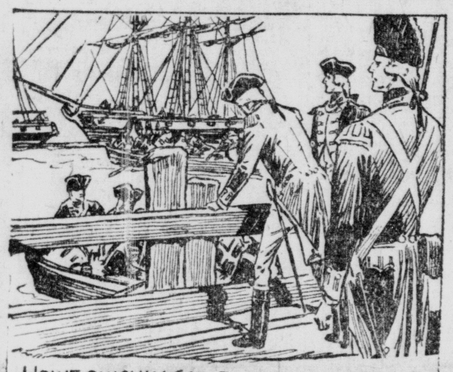

IN THE WINTER OF 1775-76 COLONEL HENRY KNOX, WASHINGTON'S CHIEF OF ARTILLERY, REACHED THE AMERICAN CAMP AT CAMBRIDGE WITH A NUMBER OF HEAVY CANNON CAPTURED FROM THE BRITISH AT FORT TICONDEROGA.

ONE NIGHT IN MARCH, 1776, WASHINGTON QUIETLY OCCUPIED DORCHESTER HEIGHTS WITHIN EASY CANNON SHOT OF BOSTON AND ON THE CREST OF THIS COMMANDING EMINENCE PLANTED HIS GUNS TO SHOOT DOWN INTO THE BRITISH WORKS.

HOWE QUICKLY SAW THAT HIS POSITION WAS UNTENABLE AND AT ONCE BEGAN TO EVACUATE THE CITY. ON MARCH 17 HE SAILED AWAY FOR HALIFAX, NOVA SCOTIA, WITH ALL HIS TROOPS AND A GREAT CROWD OF TORY REFUGEES.

WASHINGTON AND HIS CONTINENTALS ENTERED BOSTON AMID THE REJOICING OF THE PATRIOTS. BUT THERE WAS GREAT DANGER AHEAD. WITH A MIGHTY FLEET THE BRITISH COULD STRIKE AT WILL ALONG THE LONG AND ALMOST DEFENSELESS AMERICAN SEABOARD. 685

High Gridders Working Hard

Outlook Is Only Fair, Five Positions Worry For Bridenbaugh

VETERANS ARE SORELY MISSED

New Castle High's 1932 football team is shaping up only fair, and there is no telling what kind of a team will represent the red and black in their spring game with Butler High on around about April 29, this information was given out by Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh.

"After we hold a few scrimmages I will be able to tell better what the material is worth and we should get in a lot of heavy workouts this week" said Bridenbaugh.

"Right now my chief concern is with the ends and tackles, and believe me these two departments are going to cause me many sleepness night, unless the prospects show up better," again Bridenbaugh waxed pessimistic.

New Men Look Good

Of the few new men reporting Fred Shellogg and Nickum look promising, Shellogg is a lineman and has a lot of beef and Nickum is a backfield candidate. Alex Shellogg a brother of Freds is giving a good account of himself, and is trying hard to land a line berth.

Rambo is being groomed for quarterback along with the veteran Johnny Uram, and the indication points to Coach Bridenbaugh having two capable signal barkers on hand. Kominic and Kolodjeskie are other backfield men who look good enough to start the game. Kominic is a rangy tough lad who hits the line like a ton of brick and Kolodjeskie is a fleet-footed youngster and sure to rip off many long runs.

Five Doubtful Positions

So there you have the picture all except center, two tackles and two ends and if you think that these spots are not important you should watch Bridenbaugh as he tries to drill the boys into some knowledge of these posts.

There is a squad of about 60 working out every afternoon at Taggart Field. Another two weeks and things should begin to look better, but right now the boys are not world beaters by any means and it is going to take a lot of hard work to get a team into shape for the spring game. The boys are willing enough but too many veterans are gone and a green team never looks hot until after a few games.

Just How Good?

Perhaps the scrimmage sessions this week will bring out a few unrecognized stars, and no one is hoping for such a turn of affairs harder than Bridenbaugh. New Castle High will have a good football team but just how good they will be can be answered after the Butler game, and maybe not even then. The New Castle schedule this fall is not filled with "breathers" by any means. Its a tough looking picture.

Twilight League To Meet Friday

Friday night of this week President Tully Caiazza has balled another session of the newly created Twilight League. There are 18 teams lined up for the circuit at the present time. There may be 12 teams begin the season. Some fast games are in prospect. The Twilight league is composed of young players.

Should the full 18 teams decide to start the season, then it is altogether likely that two leagues will be formed. A split season will probably be played with the winners of the first half meeting the winners of the second half.

Track Team Is Halted By Rain

Coach Bill Klee will not take his New Castle track team outdoors today. There is too much rain for the cinder path artists. The track is very heavy. The atmosphere is too cold. Several fine workouts were indulged in last week. There is a large squad training. The outlook for a good team is bright. Lasky, football and basketball star, is out for track this year.

Sports Writers Select Philadelphia And St. Louis To Play World Series

Giants And Yankees Given Best Chances To Upset Dope

By GENE LAWRENCE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals are favored to win the 1932 baseball championships in the opinion of 75 sports writers among the newspapers serviced by International News Service.

The Philadelphians received a total of 50 votes to win the American League pennant and the Yankees 24. With the exception of Washington which had one ballot cast in its favor, no other team in the league was considered for first place.

Cleveland Fourth

Washington clinched third place and the Cleveland Indians were outstanding choices for fourth.

The Detroit Tigers gained top position in the second group, the Boston Red Sox were placed sixth, the Chicago White Sox seventh, and the St. Louis Browns eighth.

The Cardinals held a decided edge over the New York Giants for favor as National League flag winners. The St. Louis team ran up a total of 46 ballots against 23 for the New Yorkers. The Chicago Cubs took six first place votes. No other club was given a vote for top place.

Giants Second

The McGrawmen were ranked as outstanding choices for the second berth, with 40 of the 75 ballots cast in their favor.

After a close race, the Cubs were voted into third place with 27 votes over the Brooklyn Dodgers which had 24.

The Pittsburgh Pirates clinched fifth place. The Boston Braves were ranked as sixth.

The Phillies and Cincinnati Reds ran a neck and neck race for 7th place, the Phillies winning by a margin of 4 votes, thus giving to the Reds the unhappy honor of habitation in the cellar.

Like Father---Like Son

Bowling Congress Is About Ended

Singles And Doubles Remain On Card For Final Matches At Detroit

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 11.—Only singles and doubles play remained today for final play in the 32nd annual American Bowling Congress, and few changes are anticipated.

Jefferson Clothers, Dayton, took top place in the five man team event taking a week end score of 3108. Over the holiday, Tommy Corken and Art Hein, Chicago won sixth place in the doubles with 1298.

Eddie Kreams of Chicago is in tenth place for the singles with an even 700, one of the few times in history of the Bowling Congress when that score was needed for tenth place.

The doubles events today will bring out bowlers from Buffalo, Philadelphia, Reading and Detroit.

Spring Grid Training Starts At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 11.—Spring football training started at Westminster college under Coach John D. Lawther Saturday afternoon when 15 members of the Titan squad reported. Due to inclement weather, the first drill was held in the gymnasium.

Lawther plans to continue the spring drills this week, realizing that the fall training camp period may be shortened for financail reasons. The Titan mentor wants to get a line on available material and also to get the men thinking of football plays which will be used in next fall's campaign.

The majority of the candidates for the Titan team are members of the freshman class, 21 first-year students having been members of the squad last fall. Lawther hopes to develop from these yearlings a better outfit than that which represented Westminster last season. Of the men on last fall's squad, only Cebula, Fuller and Michaels will be lost.

The Titans have an eight-game schedule for next fall, with five games carded away from home and three at home. Trips to Washington, D. C., Olean, N. Y., and New Concord, O., to play George Washington, St. Bonaventure and Muskingum, and contests with Grove City, Geneva, Waynesburg, Thiel and Slippery Rock provide a well-balanced card.

U. S. Government Gets Nice Slice If Sharkey And Schmeling Tangle

Schmeling Will Get About $212,000, But Only $50,000 For Himself

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 11.—An ironic twist of fate, in the guise of the income tax department, may give to Max Schmeling little more cash than Jack Sharkey gets for their brawl in June time—despites the fact that the German will be paid 42½ per cent and the American only 12½.

The recent whooping up of assessments on incomes bigger than $6,000 deals Schmeling's potential earnings a terrific jolt. And it's a rather glum lad from Germany who mooches around these days and ponders over what's happened to him.

No one in the world except Joe Jacobs, the jibber-jabber manager, has a real thought that the gate will hit beyond $500,000 net. If it went $400,000 it would surprise many. But assume that it will click at $500,000; that would give Schmeling around $212,000 as his portion.

Many Cuts Are Taken

Jacobs would be the first to bear down on the swag. He seems to have some arrangement whereby he gets nothing but verbal thanks up to $100,000 and half after that. So Jacobs would spear out about $56,000 leaving Maxie with $156,000.

After that Uncle Samuel's chisel boys would operate, assisted by some state officials and when they have finished the German perhaps would have around $75,000 and a very bad headache. But that isn't the end nein, nein. When Maxie gets back home the boys from Berlin will be stepping in to pass the time of day and take some of Maxie's wealth away.

If Max is lucky he will have about $50,000 left a" for himself.

Sharkey, taking down a mere 12½ would be paid $62,500. The manager's share would be one third—about $20,000. The taxes on the balance might be about $10,000—perhaps less. Anyway, Sharkey, receiving only one eighth of the money would have between $32,500 and $35,000 for his own, whereas Schmeling's balance of the 42½ per cent slice might not be more than $50,000.

Westminster Athletes Score In Class Room

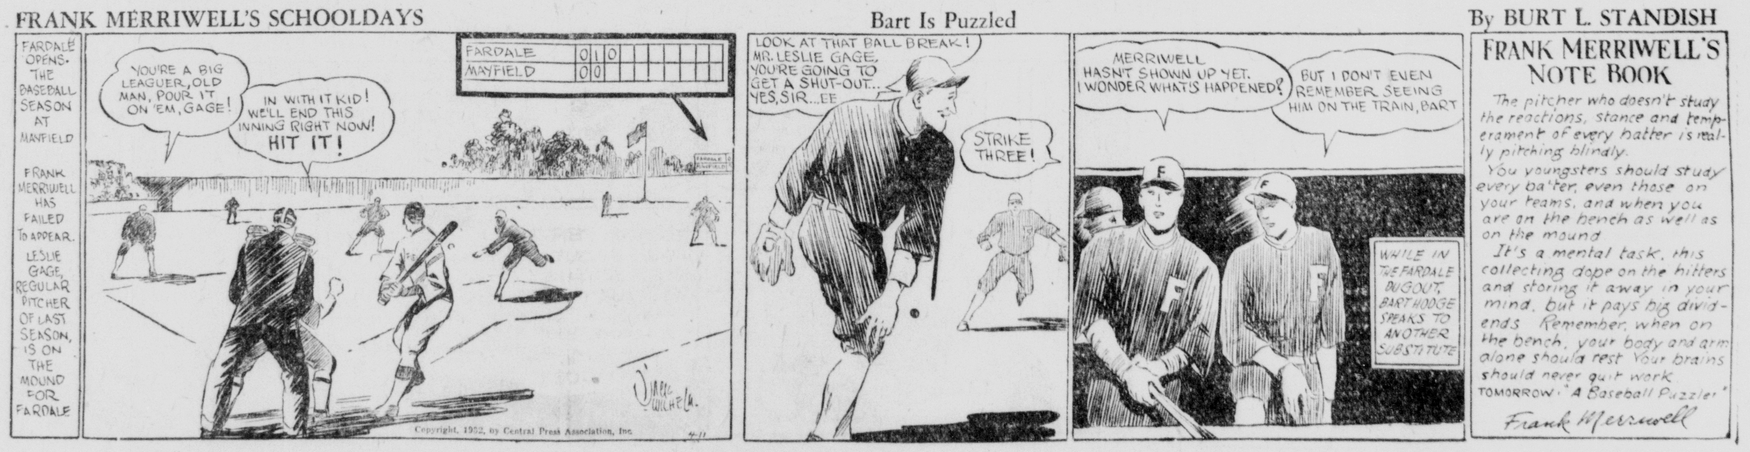

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 11.—Two Westminster College athletes have won new honors, this time shining in the classroom as well as in sport circles. Michael Kocheran, Duquesne, Pa., star forward on Westminster basketball teams for the last four years, is salutatorian of the senior class; and Richard Fuller, South Milwaukee, Wis., football and track letterman, is seventh honor student in the class numbering 85 students.

Kocheran has twice been accorded all-conference mention at forward on championship Titan teams. He was second to Harry Brownlee in scoring on the Titan team this year. Kocheran has been sports editor of the yearbook, a member of the athletic council, president of the lettermen's association, and a member of Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity.

Fuller has won three letters in football, playing a guard position and has also won two track letters specializing in the weight events. He has been a gymnasium assistant for two years, and is a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity.

FRANK MERRIWELL'S NOTE BOOK

The pitcher who doesn't study the reactions, stance and temperament of every batter is really pitching blindly.

You youngsters should study every batter, even those on your teams, and when you are on the bench as well as on the mound.

It's a mental task, this collecting dope on the hitters and storing it away in your mind, but it pays big dividends. Remember, when on the bench, your body and arm alone should rest. Your brains should never quit work.

Judge Harrison has also been the recipient of dozens of phone calls.

Shake Before the Bell

John Balquist (left), captain of the Columbia University baseball team, is shown exchanging greetings with Eddy Warren, skipper of the Yale nine, just before the ball was thrown in for the first game of the eastern college baseball season at New Haven, Conn. Yale swamped their opponents by a score of ten to four. Warren is Yale's premier diamond star, despite his handicap of only one arm. He lost the other in an accident last year.

FRESH WATER IN GREAT SALT LAKE

Miss Maurine Gamette is shown in Salt Lake City pointing out just where the purposed fresh water lake in Great Salt Lake is planned to provide 450,000 acres of new water at a cost of $800,000. The fresh water lake, which would be partitioned off by two dikes serving as highways, would be fed by the Jordan river.

"Hark! The Herald Angels—!"

This group of pretty heralds will lend a medieval touch to the annual celebration which takes place at the exclusive Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa., in May. The girls are, left to right: Julia Garner, of Brookline, Mass.; Marjorie Field, of New York; Denise Gallaudet, of Providence, R. I.; Barbara Korff, of Washington, D. C.; Barbara Bishop, of Philadelphia, and Louise McCormick, of Baltimore, Md.

Headed for Geneva Parley

Going abroad on a mission where he will combine business with pleasure, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson is shown with his wife just before they boarded the liner Ile de France at New York. In Europe Secretary Stimson will be one of the moving spirits at the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

French "Idol" Plans Comeback

Following the example of many old-timers, Georges Carpentier, former light heavyweight champion of the world, is training for a comeback to the squared circle. The French boxer, now 38, is shown as he appeared during a recent workout in New York. He is seconded by another well-known French-American, Irene Bordoni, popular stage and screen star. Carpentier expects to engage in several minor bouts in the near future to prepare him for another shot at the "big time."

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stringent Short Selling Rules Are In Effect

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 11.—Stock prices fell back to within a fraction of their bear market lows today in the face of the new stringent curb on short selling and the beginning of the Senate's market investigation.

Leading stocks like U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, Auburn, American Can and Public Service of New Jersey dropped from 1 to more than 3 points each.

New lows were general and included General Motors, Dupont, Union Carbide, Auburn and Atchison, General Motors was heavily sold with two blocks, one of 10,000 shares and the other 12,000 shares, coming out on the tape in the first hour.

Other markets were reactionary. Bonds were irregularly lower and Cotton slipped after early strength.

Garbed for Gas

Though it looks like a visitor from Mars, this fearsome looking object is nothing more alarming than a New York policeman, ready for anything. The robot-like costume is designed to resist all kinds of gas and poison fumes.

Aids Darrow

In response to an urgent summons from the defense forces in the famous Honolulu "honor-slaying" case, Dr. Edward Huntington Williams (above), of Los Angeles, and a colleague, James Orbison, both well-known alienists, have arrived in Honolulu. The entrance of the alienists into the case is regarded as an indication that the defense will introduce a plea of temporary insanity — tantamount to the unwritten law.

Speedy at 84

Not only was she the oldest woman ever to make such a trip, but Dr. Grace Murray, 84, of New York, set a record in making the journey from Honolulu to New York in seven days by ship and plane. Dr. Murray flew from San Francisco to Newark, N. J., in a night and a day. She is shown as she left the plane at her journey's end. Asked if she was tired, the gallant old lady replied, "Nonsense"!

Find Fortune In Jewels In Home Of Aged Recluse

Wealthy Philadelphia Man Left Bulk Of Fortune To Endow Free Hospital

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—An interesting story of an aged gentleman's passion for collecting jewelry is vividly woven through the unusual collection of the late Frederick Seckle Pepper Jr., member of a Philadelphia family who lived in seclusion here for many years.

A total of 388 pieces of jewelry, heavy rings and bracelets, pendants, tiaras, and watches were found hidden about the old house after Pepper's death. He was 79 years old when he died in January.

Old shoe boxes, pillows, suitcases and mattresses gave up their treasures when relatives searched the aged man's rooms in making an inventory of his possessions.

His money, and the estate was estimated at more than $5,000,000, he kept in banks, invested, or in cash. But the jewelry he kept in his own home, of which only the kitchen was occupied.

Pepper's will, which made no specific mention of his jewels, gave $2,500,000 for a hospital "for the free care and treatment of sick and injured persons" and another $2,500,000 to endow the institution, which is to be operated by the University of Pennsylvania. He also made generous provisions for relatives and provided an income of $25,000 a year for his housekeeper, Mrs. Nellie G. Bullock.

New Athletic Field For Slippery Rock

Many Other Improvements Are Planned At State Teachers College This Year

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., April 11.—A new athletic field for Slippery Rock State Teachers College has been authorized by the board of directors. It is learned today that contracts will be let about June 1st.

The grading and improvement planned will mean moving of 40,000 cubic feet of dirt. The new field, a natural amphitheatre, will be located adjoining the present hockey field. There will be a gridiron, baseball field, soccor and two hockey fields. Bleachers to seat 3000 will be built. The swimimng pool in the new $100,000 gymnasium of the school will be completed this summer. The Y. M. C. A. Hut on the campus is also planned for completion.

The present faculty numbering 59 have all been elected for another academic year.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

That old phrase "raining cats and dogs" was fifty per cent true in the office of Squire J. P. Howells of West Pittsburg recently. The Squire had beaver boarded part of his office in the basement of his home, and had left a section of the ceiling unclosed.

As he sat in his office discussing some legal points with some friends, kittens began to drop through the opening, six of them before the shower was completed. The family cat had crawled up into the opening and apparently was training some new kittens how to make parachute drops.

More suggestions for the state flower. Trailing arbutus is the latest one, and those of you who have ever uncovered the lovely thing under a blanket of leaves in the early spring, will agree that you couldn't get a much prettier bloom.

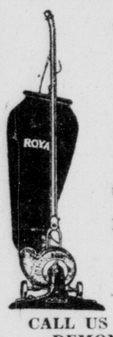

If we had studied arithmetic a little more assiduously in those days in Thaddeus Stevens, perhaps we might know how to figure the number of perches of stone required for a wall. As it is we've decided that it takes quite a gob of it, plus a little extra.

One of the judges on the Lawrence County bench would be able to give the proper answer but the trouble is just that, he's a judge. In the days when Judge Chambers was doing the arguing and not the telling, he was willing to discuss perches, hammer-dressed stone and the attendant subject. Almost afraid to ask his opinion on it now for fear he might want us to file a brief or present an oral argument.

Passed along the edge of Gaston Park yesterday, and in a few weeks it is going to be a beauty spot that will charm you. The trees are just ready to get going, the whole area has been cleaned, walks laid, ditches installed, and dressed up until it looks like the estate of some old time baron.

The deeper ditch walls have been stepped back, and plants will be put in between the stones. In a few months they should look like the hanging gardens of Babylon.

Symptoms of

Suit For $10,000 Follows Accident

Case Of Willie Sheppard Against Liberty Dairy Cartage Company On Trial

The case of Willie Sheppard of Big Beaver township against the Liberty Dairy Cartage Company of Ohio was called for trial before Judge James A. Chambers today. The case is one in which Miss Sheppard was riding south in a car driven by Howard Wood on the New Castle-Beaver road.

When near the Piedmont farm a truck belonging to the defendant company, operated by J. J. Hunter, and going north, collided with the Wood car. Miss Sheppard was painfully injured and was under a doctor's care for some time.

It is claimed that the Wood car was being operated on the right-hand side of the road and that the truck, driven by Hunter, approached on the same side. Allegation is made that Hunter was intoxicated. This he denies. The amount asked by plaintiff is $10,000.

Three Suicide In Greensburg Area

Man In Ill Health Strangles Self, Minor Blown To Bits, Another Uses Pistol

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 11.—Three suicides, in which the noose, dynamite and a bullet were used, were recorded by the county coroner's office today.

Abe Marks, 51, in ill health for a year, strangled himself with a rope.

Thomas Sobloski, 40, a miner, blew himself into oblivion with a stick of dynamite.

George Kemerer, 51, confectionary store operator, was found dead in the store, a pistol near his right hand.

Seascouts Of City Pay Camp Phillips Visit Over Sunday

Seascouts of the patrol unit "Lawrence" spent a worthwhile week-end in the McConnell cabin at Camp Phillips in spite of the continual wetness of the atmosphere. The boys seem to agree that Steward Bill Pherson carried off first honors for good billet work.

All the Seascout leaders were on deck part or all of the time, from the pilot to the mates. Al Stump was on duty on Friday, with Gordon Cartwright and the pilot steering the work on Saturday and Cartwright taking over until all hands got up anchor. The cabin got a cleaning out it has not seen for for many a day as the Seascouts scrubbed down decks, cleaned off paintwork and scrubbed the mess tables. Then they got in a good reserve store of wood to dry, and troops who date up the cabin are asked to leave an amount of newly-cut wood equal to what they use of the dry wood so that there will always be wood drying out for the next party.

Several periods in Seascout work were held and on Sunday morning church services were held, with Yeoman Clare Hanna furnishing the trumpet music. Coming back to Grant City in the afternoon the boys got a big Nash sedan out of the mud where it was stuck, and got themselves pretty well muddied up in consequence. It was a real good turn. All hands got back in good order, however, and this coming Saturday evening they will be planning a trip of another kind.

Donnelly Speaks At Syracuse, N. Y.

M. J. Donnelly has returned from Syracuse, N. Y., where he attended a meeting of some 200 members and guests of the Syracuse Agency of the Equitable, which was an honor to W. L. Boyce, manager. Mr. Donnelly was one of the speakers at the conference.

It is estimated that the people of the United States spend $715,000,000 annually for drugs and medicines, which constitutes approximately 20 per cent of the national bill for sickness.

Union Prayer Service Tonight

Various Churches Taking Part In Services To Bring About A Spiritual Revival

Much interest has been manifested in the union services which have been conducted by ministers and laymen of the various churches of the city in the past few weeks; and this evening, the weekly service will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist church.

Evangelist George T. Evans, of North Carolina, will be the guest speaker and the special music will be sung by the Musical Whites, also of the Stevens party.

After the evangelistic address the assemblage will divide into groups for prayer.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON AUTO VERDICT

Verdict by agreement was taken before Judge Chambers at court this morning in the case of Doris Shingledecker, aged 5, by her parents, Clair and Ethel Shingledecker and the latter in their own right against Frances C. Klein. The amount agreed upon was $25 for Doris and $75 for the parents. The case grew out of an automobile accident on Croton Avenue near the Universal Sales Company's place of business. Doris was on the east side of the street and was attempting to cross to the west side when she was struck by the defendant's automobile.
